SEARCH ON FOR ROBBERY SUSPECT

Red Ambush Is Costly to Cavalry Unit

GI Losses Heavy; Enemy Also Pays High Bottle Price

PLEIKU, South Viet Nam
(AP) — American cavalymen today claimed at least 300 North Vietnamese killed during a Communist ambush of U.S. forces in the Ia Drang Valley.

The ambush was also costly for the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division, which may have suffered the highest American casualties of any single engagement of the war in Viet Nam.
One company was virtually wiped out and some other units of the cavalrymen suffered serious losses.

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon termed American casualties in the action moderate. He said U.S. troops still held the battleground today.

U.S. B52 bombers struck Communist positions overlooking the valley for the fifth and sixth times today to support the American troops.

After 6½ hours of hard fighting, dozens of dead Americans lay on the battlefield Wednesday night beside bodies of enemy dead. Wounded Americans crowded aid stations in Plei-kum.

U.S. patrols reported they counted at least 300 dead Communist on the battlefield, and a spokesman said the enemy toll appeared certain to rise.
Previously, U.S. spokesmen had reported 890 North Vietnamese killed in the fighting which has ragged in the valley in the central highlands since Sunday.

No U.S. casualty figures were announced, in accordance with U.S. security policy. But before the ambush the Ia Drang battle had caused the heaviest American losses in the war.

Elsewhere, in South Viet Nam, Viet Cong battalions destroyed five U.S. spotter planes and inflicted moderate casualties on Vietnamese Rangers defending the Tan Hiep airfield 35 miles southwest of Saigon. A U.S. adviser said 28 Viet Cong bodies were found. There were no American casualties.

The North Vietnamese in the Ia Drang Valley lay in the underbrush and hid in trees to ambush a battalion from the U.S.
1st Cavalry. A relief force reached the scene at nightfall, and fighting was heavy during the night.

"We were walking along at the center of the battalion and we started getting fired on all of $45,000 Ransom Paid in Kidnaping

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—A 13-year-old Tacoma boy, son of a wholesale grocery company executive, was kidnapped by two men Wednesday, held for nine hours and released unharmed after payment of $45,000 ransom.

Sheriff Jack Berry disclosed the kidnaping today after Charles Hyde Jr., was back safely with his family.

Berry said the boy was abducted about 7:45 a.m. Wednesday.
The ransom was paid by the father, Charles Hyde Sr., president of the West Coast Grocery Co. here.

Gen. Clark Urges Red Viet Bombings

CHICAGO (AP)—Retired Gen.
Mark W. Clark has urged bombing attacks on all military targets in North Viet Nam to force the Communists to seek a peace settlement.

Clark, who was commander in chief of U.S. fighting forces during part of the Korean War, also said at a news conference Wednesday that this country
"shouldn't fight it out on a manpower basis" against the Reds in Viet Nam.

"They have more men than we have and they don't care how many they lose, while we do," he said.

Armed Teenager Subdued in Try To Hijack Plane

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—
An icy-nerved electronics executive and two of the nation's top space figures disarmed a teen-ager who tried to hijack a jetliner over the Gulf of Mexico.

Thomas Robinson, 16, who said he wanted to go to Cuba to help anti-Castro political prisoners, fired a barrage of shots into the deck of the lounge before he was wrestled to the floor. The Wednesday night 100 miles out of New Orleans. He was carrying two guns.

But the two space executives and a score of other top experts
— the cream of the brainpower in the Gemini program — coming here to check out spacecraft for the United States' next space flights escaped without injury.

"We thought all along the shots were blanks," said Paul Haney, voice of the U. S. astronauts, "until somebody pulled back the rug and we counted eight big holes in the metal floor."

"At that point I got a little weak in the knees," he said. "It was one hell of a 25 minutes."

It was electronics executive Edward C. Haake of Seabrook, Tex., who actually got the jump on the youth from Brownsville, Tex., by distracting him with a handful of gold coins.

Haney was sitting next to Chris Kraft, who directs U. S.

astronauts as they circle the globe, when Robinson sat down on the arm of the chair across the aisle.

Robinson dropped a newspaper he had wrapped around a 22-caliber automatic, galvanizing the 91 passengers aboard the Los Angeles to Miami National Airlines Flight 30.

"He pointed it at Chris," Haney said. "It was only six inches off his jaw."

"What have you got there, boy?" Kraft said.

"There was a click which I thought was a cocking action," Haney said. "It did not fire.
That's why I thought it was cocking action."

"The kid stood up and backed toward the cockpit door and fired three shots in the floor of the lounge."

"Then he just stood there for five minutes and then he said:

Once Around Roundtown

MRS. WILLIAM Barthelmas, Sr., Route 2, reported to Circleville Police she lost a silver bracelet made from her son's airforce pilot insignia wings.

Her son, Capt. William J. Bar-thelmas Jr., was killed while participating in an air strike in North Viet Nam this summer. . . . He was the county's first fatality in the Viet Nam conflict. . . .

Officers said Mrs. Barthel-mas is very anxious to regain the bracelet which she believes she lost in the downtown area.

SEVERAL days ago a tiny dog was found wandering along Route 23 south of here and was picked up by a passing motorist. . . .

The friendly driver turned the dog in at the City Police Department. . . .

Ultimately, the owner of the dog turned up to claim the pet.
However, she expressed a fear the pup might again wander onto Route 23 and be struck by an auto. . . .

And a new home was found almost immediately. . . . Sgt.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.
(AP) — The 47-47 split in the General Assembly on seating Red China plus waning support for U.S. demands that a two-thirds vote decide the issue, aroused speculation today that Peking cannot be barred much longer.

Supporters of the U. S. campaign to keep Red China out of the United Nations admitted privately that they may have scored their last annual victory.

Many diplomats believed the fact that the 117-nation assembly approved the call for a two-thirds majority by a margin of only 7 votes was more significant than the dramatic split over admitting Peking.

The procedural maneuver was approved 56-47 with 11 abstentions, a majority of 20 less than the last vote on the same question four years ago.

The consensus was that if Peking's supporters break the majority barrier next year, they can rally enough support to admit Red China on a straight vote.

Diplomats noted that if Indonesia had not quit the United Nations last March, Peking may have had the single vote needed to score a simple majority this time.

It was believed that Red China's backers could pick up a number of votes if they did not insist on coupling their call for admission of Peking with demands to oust Nationalist China.

Ceylon tried before Wednesday's vote to delete the ouster demand, but the sponsors refused. Peking has said it will not consider U.N. membership unless the Nationalists are thrown out.

For the first time, the United States found itself the only big power opposing Red China.
France switched allegiance after establishing diplomatic relations with Mao Tze-tung's regime last year. Britain supported the two-thirds demand, but voted to seat Red China, which it has recognized since 1950.

The lukewarm support that the Soviet Union gave Peking this year disappointed some of Red China's backers, but it was considered doubtful it cost them any votes.

Probe Team, Bank Staff Commended

Sheriff Dwight E. Radcliff and Deputies John Wolford and Homer Adams worked throughout the night with FBI agents and other officers investigating yesterday's daring robbery at the Ashville Bank.

Sheriff Radcliff indicated that several items of evidence have been uncovered by his officers and FBI agents.
He said they all tend to implicate Charles L. Price, a Kentucky native supposedly living in Columbus.

The sheriff commended Orlan Hines, Marshall Glen Clay, his officers and the entire investigating team for a "job well done." He particularly pointed out the assistance of Sgt. Clyde Mann of the Franklin County Sheriff's Department who helped conduct a night-long probe in Columbus which netted incriminating evidence.

Radcliff said today the robbery was well planned. "The average bank robbery last about 3½ minutes," the sheriff said. The bold gunman at Ash-ville entered the bank at about 2:30 p. m. and didn't leave until 3:05 p. m. . . .

FBI AGENTS reported today that the accused robber was a native of Kentucky and had been living in the Columbus area for about six months. He was also reported to have several bank accounts, including one in Cleveland, Tenn.

The extensive investigation was being continued today, along with the all out search,
by local authorities, Franklin County officers and FBI agents.

Deputy Sheriff John Wolford and William A. Stout, special deputy, were the first officers on the scene yesterday in addition to Ashville Marshal Glen Clay.

Sheriff Radcliff authorized Stout to guard the front door and keep unauthorized personnel from entering until the investigation was completed.

City Patrolman William Goff also assisted with the lengthy probe. Goff was at the bank scene for several hours with an identification kit which was used to make "likenesses" of the robber through descriptions offered by the eight bank employees.

Brazil Calls For Tighter Latin Setup

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Foreign ministers of the Western Hemisphere set up working groups today following a strong call by Brazil's president for them to update inter-American machinery to combat infiltration and subversion.

"It is urgent that we, the members of the inter-American system, rethink our concepts and preconceptions in the light of the new realities," President Humberto Castello Branco declared in formally opening the special inter-American conference Wednesday night.

The Brazilian chief chided past hemisphere parleys for "academically mulling over principles and provisions that, when a dispute comes up, we do not show any inclination to obey."

Stoutly defending the intervention in the Dominican Republic, Castello Branco said the hemisphere defense system was devised in the early postwar years to protect against direct armed aggression. Now aggression threatens more subtly
"through infiltration and subversion" and "it is therefore imperative that we take a new look at the concepts of aggression and intervention," he said.

His keynote rang harmoniously with a theme sounded by President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk after Washington ordered troops into Santo Domingo to save lives and prevent a Communist takeover.

VICTIMS OF GUNMAN — Orlan Hines (left) is pictured here with Mrs. Valerie Knoch, cashier, during a run through of incidents that occurred within the 35-minute period they and six other bank employees were held at gunpoint yesterday. The gunman fled with nearly $50,000 in cash and government bonds.

Marion Park Entry Road To Get Repair

Pettibone Says Work
At Site Due To Start
Early Next Week

A. D. Pettibone, superintendent of the State Highway Department in Pickaway County, announced today work will begin next week on the entry road to A. W. Marion State Park.

The road has not been maintained recently. It has been the object of many complaints by persons using the park.

Pettibone reported the Division of Parks has allocated necessary funds to begin repair work. Division 6 of the Highway Department authorized the local department to proceed, he added.

Present plans call for the local highway department to tear up the road bed, roll it down and shoot it with a coat of tar in the way of initial work.

PETTIBONE said the road will be paved. After initial work is completed, it will be opened to traffic during the winter months.

A jurisdictional dispute between the Department of Highways and the Division of Parks has held up work.

Both departments contended it was the duty of the other to provide funds to repair the road.

Help Is on Way To Disabled Ship

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—
While a Coast Guard plane circled overhead, rescue vessels sped today to a Norwegian cargo ship which called for help when 650 miles southwest of San Francisco.

The ship, the 552-foot Martha Bakke, radioed she was endangered by shifting deck cargo.

A Coast Guard plane from San Francisco said at daybreak the 11,440-gross-ton ship did not appear to be sinking or taking water, although she was not under way.

Coast Guard headquarters here said the main danger apparently came from 12-foot Pacific Ocean waves, the result of a storm off the California Coast.

The closest merchant ship was about 10 hours away—150 miles —from the Martha Bakke.

New Chief of Markets Is Selected for Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —
State Agriculture Director John Stackhouse has appointed Lawrence K. Bear chief of the Division of Markets, effective Dec. 15.

Bear, a Dayton native who now lives in Columbus, has been with the Ohio Department of Agriculture since February as administrative assistant to Stackhouse.

Humphrey Says Farm Bill To Eliminate Confusion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —
Vice President Hubert H.
Humphrey described the new farm bill today as a major breakthrough toward better farm income, use of land resources, and marketing at home and abroad.

In an address prepared for the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation's annual meeting here, Humphrey said the new four-year program for most basic commodities would eliminate the former uncertainty and confusion for farmers.

"Despite the incredible efficiency of our farmers," Humphrey said, "rural America has fallen behind economically while the rest of the nation has moved ahead to new prosperity and opportunity."

Humphrey said the new farm program would carry out efforts of President Johnson and the late President Kennedy to restore income parity to American farmers.

Humphrey predicted that the measure also would reduce surplus feed grain stocks and cut commodity credit corporation investment by $1.4 billion.

He termed the feed grain program the best stabilizer ever devised for the livestock and poultry industry, and also praised the cropland adjustment program for diverting land to conservation purposes.

Humphrey predicted an end of "needless and expensive surpluses" under the bill, but he said adequate reserves of food for national security would be maintained.

The vice president predicted further efforts to raise the living standards of rural America.
He described them as education, rural housing and community loans to revitalize rural communities.

"President Johnson has declared war on poverty," Humphrey said. "That includes poverty in rural America, where half the nation's lowest income families live. We are going to win that war."

Earlier, Ohio's U.S. Senator
Frank J. Lausche was honored by the Farm Bureau and said he had voted against the new farm bill because he felt it was not in the best interests of Ohio farmers.

The walkout also may reach to Cape Kennedy, Fla., where about 500 McDonnell employees, including some machinists, are working in the launch of Ge-minis 6 and 7, scheduled for Dec.
4 and 13.

Machinists at the Cape voted to accept the contract proposal, but union officials said the local is closely aligned with the St.
Louis local and might be tied in with what is done in St. Louis.

William Rollins, president of the union's District 9 said in St.
Louis pickets will be set up at the McDonnell plant in St. Louis and at the Cape.

2 Women Study Auto Mechanics

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mary Ann Sanicky knows what to talk about on a date — spark plugs, carburetors and fan belts.

Mary Ann, 19, and Mrs. Bernadette Sterger are studying to be mechanics at a night school auto class at Parma High School.

"I've never taught a woman before," said instructor George Gacom Jr. "In some ways, I

ics than men."

Miss Sanicky, a typist, and Mrs. Sterger enrolled because they found the workings of a

Ashville Bank Is Looted by Daring Gunman

Sheriff, FBI Move
Quickly on All Clues;
$46,722 Cash Taken

A widespread search was launched yesterday evening for a Columbus man who robbed
The Ashville Bank of nearly $50,000 in cash and government bonds.

A warrant has been issued by the Federal Bureau of Investigation for Charles Leonard Price, Columbus. The fugitive has been described as 27 - years - old, white, wavy black hair, 5-feet 8-inches tall and weighing about 150 pounds.

The spectacular robbery occurred after the bank closed at 2:30 p. m. Employees said the bold robber was in the bank for about 35 minutes.

An official audit today disclosed $46,722.39 in cash was taken. The loot also included $2,166.85 in non-negotiable bonds and another $400 in negotiable coupons.

According to Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, working on the investigation in cooperation with FBI agents, Price is also wanted on a federal charge filed in Pennsylvania.

PRICE entered the building behind Nancy Tosca, an employee of the bank. She had gone outside at closing time to fasten a chain across the drive-in window facility.

Drapes covering the front windows had already been drawn. This prevented passers-by from seeing any activity on the inside.

According to bank workers,
the man said he wanted to exchange coins for bills. Mrs. Valerie Knoch, attempting to accommodate the man, indicated she thought he wanted to inquire about a loan when he asked for "loan officer Orlan Hines."

The intruder drew a pistol described as a .38 revolver.
He issued written instructions to Hines and other employees to hand over the money. He

Popes John, Pius Started On Steps to Sainthood

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope
Paul VI today ordered the start of the beatification process for his two predecessors, John XXIII and Pius XII. His action was a first step toward their possible canonization as saints.

Pope Paul made his surprise announcement in a discourse at a public ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica for the promulgation of two new decrees of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Speaking of the renewal of Roman Catholicism started by the council, which was first convened by Pope John, Pope Paul said his two predecessors should be piously remembered. He said the church and the world owed much to them.

"We are arranging," he said,
"that to this end there be canonically begun the processes of beatification of these holy and eminent supreme pontiffs who are so dear to us."

Pope Paul said many persons had sought such action for the two Popes.

Beatification declares that someone is worthy of public veneration because of exceptional holiness during his life. It is a step toward canonization, which declares that the beatified may be called a saint.

In his speech, Pope Paul also announced:
—That the long-awaited reform of the Vatican Curia is progressing and that he will soon announce a new statute for the Vatican's Holy Office, the Curia's most powerful unit and its most controversial.

—That the period from the end of the Ecumenical Council, Dec.
8, to Pentecost Sunday, next June, will be a special jubilee period for the world's Roman Catholics to promote the council's decisions.

As Judge Said, Man Can't Win

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A pampered wife has won a divorce because her husband was too good to her.

Leona P. Jeske, 60, of Hayward complained in Alameda County Superior Court that her husband, Carl, 68, would never let her make the breakfast coffee, did all the washing and ironing, wouldn't let her wash the dishes, jumped up and took things out of the oven when she was baking so she wouldn't burn herself, and insisted on tucking her in bed each night.

The Jeskes had been married for 18 months. Each had been married before.

Mrs. Jeske said she felt she was being "treated like a child" and became nervous and upset. It caused her "grievous mental suffering," she said.

"This is one of the strangest forms of mental cruelty I have ever come across," commented Judge Lyle E. Cooke. "Some men just can't win."

Once Around Roundtown

MRS. WILLIAM Barthelmas, Sr., Route 2, reported to Circleville Police she lost a silver bracelet made from her son's airforce pilot insignia wings.

Her son, Capt. William J. Barthelmas Jr., was killed while participating in an air strike in North Viet Nam this summer. . . . He was the county's first fatality in the Viet Nam conflict. . . .

Officers said Mrs. Barthelmas is very anxious to recover the bracelet which she believes she lost in the downtown area.

SEVERAL days ago a tiny dog was found wandering along Route 23 south of here and was picked up by a passing motorist. . . .

The friendly driver turned the dog in at the City Police Department. . . .

Ultimately, the owner of the dog turned up to claim the pet. However, she expressed a fear the pup might again wander onto Route 23 and be struck by an auto. . . .

And a new home was found almost immediately. . . . Sgt. Turney Ross had become attached to the little canine during the short time it was in the possession of the department and offered to care for it. . . . The dog now lives at 440 E. Union St. with Sgt. and Mrs. Ross.

U.N. Vote Indicates Seat For Red China in Offing

Nations last March, Peking may have had the single vote needed to score a simple majority this time.

It was believed that Red China's backers could pick up a number of votes if they did not insist on coupling their call for admission of Peking with demands to oust Nationalist China.

Ceylon tried before Wednesday's vote to delete the ouster demand, but the sponsors refused. Peking has said it will not consider U.N. membership unless the Nationalists are thrown out.

For the first time, the United States found itself the only big power opposing Red China. France switched allegiance after establishing diplomatic relations with Mao Tze-tung's regime last year. Britain supported the two-thirds demand, but voted to seat Red China which it has recognized since 1950.

The lukewarm support that the Soviet Union gave Peking this year disappointed some of Red China's backers, but it was considered doubtful it cost them any votes.

Probe Team, Bank Staff Commended

Sheriff Dwight E. Radcliff and Deputies John Wolford and Homer Adams worked throughout the night with FBI agents and other officers investigating yesterday's daring robbery at the Ashville Bank.

Sheriff Radcliff indicated that several items of evidence have been uncovered by his officers and FBI agents. He said they all tend to implicate Charles L. Price, a Kentucky native supposedly living in Columbus.

The sheriff commended Orlan Hines, Marshall Glen Clay, his officers and the entire investigating team for a "job well done." He particularly pointed out the assistance of Sgt. Clyde Mann of the Franklin County Sheriff's Department who helped conduct a night-long probe in Columbus which netted incriminating evidence.

Radcliff said today the robbery was well planned. "The average bank robbery last about 3½ minutes," the sheriff said. The bold gunman at Ashville entered the bank at about 2:30 p. m. and didn't leave until 3:05 p. m. . . .

FBI AGENTS reported today that the accused robber was a native of Kentucky and had been living in the Columbus area for about six months. He was also reported to have several bank accounts, including one in Cleveland, Tenn.

The extensive investigation was being continued today, along with the all out search, by local authorities, Franklin County officers and FBI agents. Deputy Sheriff John Wolford and William A. Stout, special deputy, were the first officers on the scene yesterday in addition to Ashville Marshal Glen Clay.

Sheriff Radcliff authorized Stout to guard the front door and keep unauthorized personnel from entering until the investigation was completed.

City Patrolman William Goff also assisted with the lengthy probe. Goff was at the bank scene for several hours with an identification kit which was used to make "likenesses" of the robber through descriptions offered by the eight bank employees.

Brazil Calls For Tighter Latin Setup

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Foreign ministers of the Western Hemisphere set up working groups today following a strong call by Brazil's president for them to update inter-American machinery to combat infiltration and subversion.

"It is urgent that we, the members of the inter-American system, rethink our concepts and preconceptions in the light of the new realities," President Humberto Castello Branco declared in formally opening the special inter-American conference Wednesday night.

The Brazilian chief chided past hemisphere parleys for "academically mulling over principles and provisions that, when a dispute comes up, we do not show any inclination to obey."

Stoutly defending the intervention in the Dominican Republic, Castello Branco said the hemisphere defense system was devised in the early postwar years to protect against direct armed aggression. Now aggression threatens more subtly "through infiltration and subversion" and "it is therefore imperative that we take a new look at the concepts of aggression and intervention," he said.

His keynote rang harmoniously with a theme sounded by President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk after Washington ordered troops into Santo Domingo to save lives and prevent a Communist takeover.

VICTIMS OF GUNMAN — Orlan Hines (left) is pictured here with Mrs. Valerie Knoch, cashier, during a run through of incidents that occurred within the 35-minute period they and six other bank employees were held at gunpoint yesterday. The gunman fled with nearly $50,000 in cash and government bonds.

Marion Park Entry Road To Get Repair

Pettibone Says Work
At Site Due To Start
Early Next Week

A. D. Pettibone, superintendent of the State Highway Department in Pickaway County, announced today work will begin next week on the entry road to A. W. Marion State Park.

The road has not been maintained recently. It has been the object of many complaints by persons using the park.

Pettibone reported the Division of Parks has allocated necessary funds to begin repair work. Division 6 of the Highway Department authorized the local department to proceed, he added.

Present plans call for the local highway department to tear up the road bed, roll it down and shoot it with a coat of tar in the way of initial work.

PETTIBONE said the road will be paved. After initial work is completed, it will be opened to traffic during the winter months.

A jurisdictional dispute between the Department of Highways and the Division of Parks has held up work.

Both departments contended it was the duty of the other to provide funds to repair the road.

Help Is on Way To Disabled Ship

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—While a Coast Guard plane circled overhead, rescue vessels sped today to a Norwegian cargo ship which called for help when 650 miles southwest of San Francisco.

The ship, the 532-foot Martha Bakke, radioed she was endangered by shifting deck cargo.

A Coast Guard plane from San Francisco said at daybreak the 11,440-cross-ton ship did not appear to be sinking or taking water, although she was not under way.

Coast Guard headquarters here said the main danger apparently came from 12-foot Pacific Ocean waves, the result of a storm off the California Coast.

The closest merchant ship was about 10 hours away—150 miles—from the Martha Bakke.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey described the new farm bill today as a major breakthrough toward better farm income, use of land resources, and marketing at home and abroad.

In an address prepared for the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation's annual meeting here, Humphrey said the new four-year program for most basic commodities would eliminate the former uncertainty and confusion for farmers.

Strike Seen Halting War Plane Output

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Machinists at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. are preparing for a strike at midnight that would halt production of Phantom jet fighter planes used in Viet Nam and could delay two Gemini space shots.

Some 11,000 members of District 9 of the International Association of Machinists jammed a downtown auditorium Wednesday and overwhelmingly rejected a company contract offer. The rejection is tantamount to a strike vote. The McDonnell plant has 35,000 employees, 17,000 of them machinists.

A strike would immediately hit production of the Phantoms, used by the Navy, Air Force and Marines in Viet Nam. About 50 now are on McDonnell production lines.

The walkout also may reach to Cape Kennedy, Fla., where about 500 McDonnell employees, including some machinists, are working in the launch of Gemini 6 and 7, scheduled for Dec. 4 and 13.

Machinists at the Cape voted to accept the contract proposal, but union officials said the local is closely aligned with the St. Louis local and might be tied in with what is done in St. Louis.

William Rollins, president of the union's District 9 said in St. Louis pickets will be set up at the McDonnell plant in St. Louis and at the Cape.

2 Women Study Auto Mechanics

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mary Ann Sanicky knows what to talk about on a date — spark plugs, carburetors and fan belts. Mary Ann, 19, and Mrs. Bernadette Sterger are studying to be mechanics at a night school auto class at Parma High School.

"I've never taught a woman before," said instructor George Gaeon Jr. "In some ways, I believe they are better mechanics than men."

Miss Sanicky, a typist, and Mrs. Sterger enrolled because they found the workings of a car interesting.

Ashville Bank Is Looted by Daring Gunman

Sheriff, FBI Move
Quickly on All Clues;
$46,722 Cash Taken

A widespread search was launched yesterday evening for a Columbus man who robbed The Ashville Bank of nearly $50,000 in cash and government bonds.

A warrant has been issued by the Federal Bureau of Investigation for Charles Leonard Price, Columbus. The fugitive has been described as 27 years old, white, wavy black hair, 5-feet 8-inches tall and weighing about 150 pounds.

The spectacular robbery occurred behind the bank closed at 2:30 p. m. Employees said the bold robber was in the bank for about 35 minutes.

An official audit today disclosed $46,722.39 in cash was taken. The loot also included $2,166.85 in non-negotiable bonds and another $400 in negotiable coupons.

According to Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, working on the investigation in cooperation with FBI agents, Price is also wanted on a federal charge filed in Pennsylvania.

PRICE entered the building behind Nancy Tosca, an employee of the bank. She had gone outside at closing time to fasten a chain across the drive-in window facility.

Drapes covering the front windows had already been drawn. This prevented passersby from seeing any activity on the inside.

According to bank workers, the man said he wanted to exchange coins for bills. Mrs. Valerie Knoch, attempting to accommodate the man, indicated she thought he wanted to inquire about a loan when he asked for "loan officer Orlan Hines."

The intruder drew a pistol described as a .38 revolver. He issued written instructions to Hines and other employees to hand over the money. He

Popes John, Pius Started On Steps to Sainthood

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI today ordered the start of the beatification process for his two predecessors, John XXIII and Pius XII. His action was a first step toward their possible canonization as saints.

Pope Paul made his surprise announcement in a discourse at a public ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica for the promulgation of two new decrees of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Speaking of the renewal of Roman Catholicism started by the council, which was first convened by Pope John, Pope Paul said his two predecessors should be piously remembered. He said the church and the world owed much to them.

"We are arranging," he said, "that to this end there be canonically begun the processes of beatification of these holy and eminent supreme pontiffs who are so dear to us."

Pope Paul said many persons had sought such action for the two Popes.

Beatification declares that someone is worthy of public veneration because of exceptional holiness during his life. It is a step toward canonization, which declares that the beatified may be called a saint.

In his speech, Pope Paul also announced:

—That the long-awaited reform of the Vatican Curia is progressing and that he will soon announce a new statute for the Vatican's Holy Office, the Curia's most powerful unit and its most controversial.

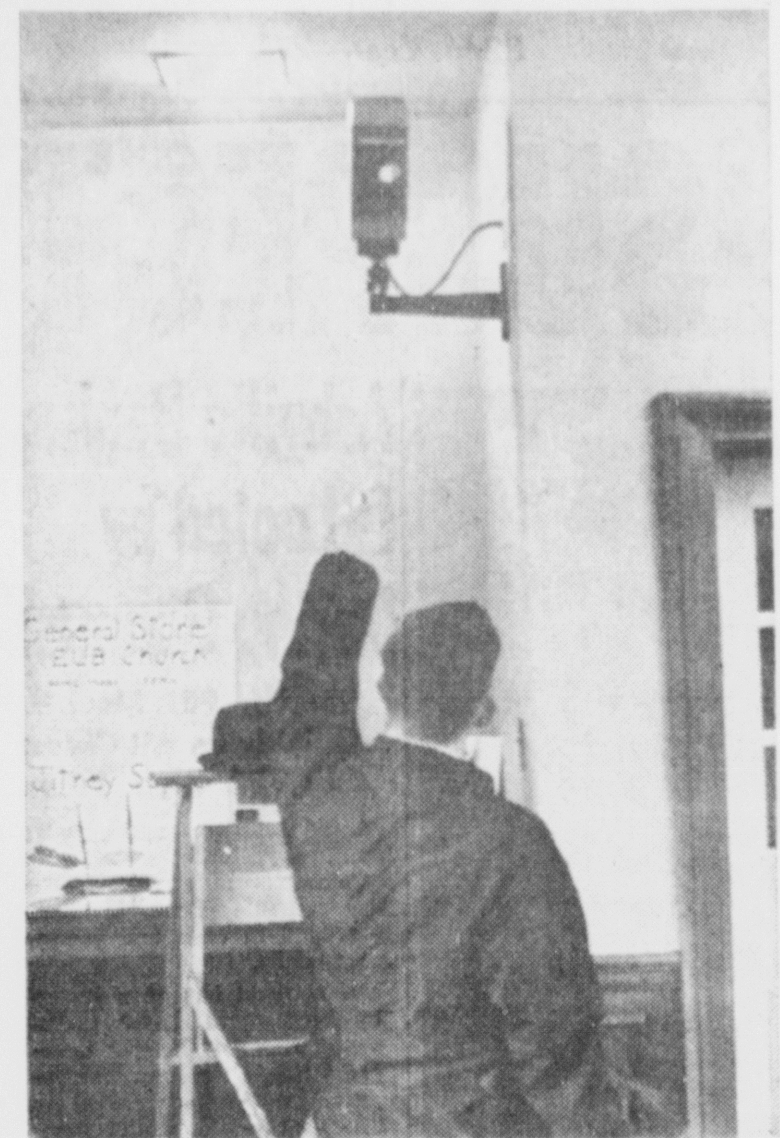

—That the period from the end of the Ecumenical Council, Dec. 8, to Pentecost Sunday, next June, will be a special jubilee period for the world's Roman Catholics to promote the council's decisions.

—That he hopes to convene his new Synod of Bishops for the first time next year or, if not feasible then, in 1967.

Pope Paul's statement on the Curia had long been expected. He said he felt there was no need for great changes but for "perfectioning."

Pope Paul established the Synod — or Senate — of Bishops, with representatives from various nations, to advise him on various matters after the council ends. Many experts feel it will amount to a sort of continuation of the council.

Ashville Bank...

PROTECTION DEVICE — John Wils, Circleville, points to one of the camera devices installed at The Ashville Bank ten days ago that filmed the robbery there yesterday. Signs noting that "cameras will film any holding on these premises" were posted on windows of the building and at every teller's window in the bank. Bank employees said the robber was aware of the equipment and tried "to stay clear of the cameras' lens."

then placed the bills in a shopping bag.

The robber had an extension cord cut into 18-inch pieces, along with adhesive tape that he used to bind the eight bank employees. He covered their eyes and mouth with the tape. Four were ordered to stay in a back room; the other four were locked in the vault.

On duty at the time of the robbery in addition to Hines and Mrs. Knoch were Mabel Puckett, Nancy Bozman, Bonetta Hay, Doris Roof, Nancy Tosca and Bonetta Lemon.

CAMERAS installed in the bank after the robbery. But the robber managed to stay clear of the cameras' lens for the most part.

However, according to Sheriff Radcliff, one picture of the fugitive was made available from the film. The photograph outfit was installed only 10 days ago, according to Claude Kraft, bank president.

Identification of the robber was due largely to an observation made by Hines, executive vice president of the bank, on Oct. 27.

U.S. To Release Copper Pile

Move Is Expected To Nip Price Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government plans to release at least 200,000 tons of copper from its stockpile. It says the aim is to nip the climb in copper prices and ease a world shortage of the metal.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced the decision Wednesday night, saying the world copper situation threatens a disruption which could lead to strong inflationary developments.

The announcement came one week after similar government proposals had forced a price-rise rollback in the aluminum industry.

There was no immediate comment from major copper companies as to whether they would follow the aluminum pattern and cut back prices.

Most U.S. copper producers increased their prices 2 cents a pound — from 36 cents to 38 cents — during the early stages of the aluminum controversy. Only Kennecott Copper Corp. held firm at the lower level. The defense chief said speculative market prices in London and New York have been running between 67 and 70 cents a pound.

McNamara said the release plus three other actions affecting the metal had been discussed with leading U.S. copper companies.

He declined to reveal which companies but said: "I think they will fully support this action."

The other government decisions:

1. To control exports of copper and copper scrap "for an indefinite period to conserve domestic supply."

2. To ask Congress to suspend the 17-cent-a-pound import duty on copper, a protection McNamara said domestic producers don't need. The Western world used 5.3 million tons of refined copper last year but produced 4.4 million tons. The rest came from scrap.

3. To ask the New York Commodity Exchange to curb excessive speculation in copper trading by raising margin requirements for copper. He said the current margin is about 10 percent, compared to an appropriate 70 percent on the New York Exchange.

Through an extensive investigation, it was learned that "a girl friend" of Price lived at 513 E. Town St., Columbus.

Price was last seen at about 11 p. m. yesterday in Columbus driving a 1957 model Ford. At noon today Sheriff Radcliff learned that the auto was found abandoned in Huntington, W. Va. The auto he was driving on Oct. 27 was also found about a week ago in the Huntington area.

The sheriff said search efforts are being intensified in the Huntington vicinity by West Virginia State Police and FBI agents.

Red Ambush

a sudden," said a survivor of the ambush, Staff Sgt. Miguel Seise of Augusta, Ga.

"It was coming from everywhere — the ground, the trees. Suddenly, everyone around me was getting hit and dying."

"I could hear screams all around me, all over the place. We fought and fought for what seemed hours. But it was no good."

"I told what was left of my men, and there weren't many, to pull back if they could. I told them they had a 50-50 chance of getting out."

"We started crawling away under terribly intense fire. We crawled 250 yards, then started running. I never ran so fast before."

"We had to leave most of the wounded people behind, there was nothing else for it. But we tried to help some of them by crawling with them."

"The ones we left behind were screaming in pain and fear. Someone shouted out, 'Don't leave me!', a lieutenant called out, 'Please shoot me. Please shoot me. I don't want them to get me.'"

The wake of battle left bodies in piles of 15 and 20. Some Americans died with their hands frozen in rifle-holding positions. But the rifles were gone, taken by the Communist troops to use against other Americans.

Civil Rights Machinery Geared for Jury Justice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again the Justice Department's civil rights machinery is gearing up to meet presidential demands for tough legislation aimed at securing the rights of Negroes.

Two years ago it was sweeping civil rights legislation. Last spring it was a law aimed at guaranteeing the ballot to Negroes.

And now the object is a bill aimed at taking racial discrimination out of the jury box at all levels of the judicial system, from county to federal.

High-level department sources indicated Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach is starting from scratch in his attempt to draw up a bill that will meet the President's demand.

"It's just too early to begin discussing the possibilities," one official said. "Right now what we've got to do is study the Southern jury system as it is today. And then we're faced with a whole batch of problems in coming up with legislation."

City Officers Attend Course On Homicide

Circleville Chief of Police Robert Temple and Sgt. Leroy Hawks last week attended a seminar at Cincinnati covering the various phases of homicide investigation.

The school was presented by the Hamilton County Coroner's Office in cooperation with the University of Cincinnati, the Hamilton County Prosecutor's Office and the Cincinnati Police Department.

The six-day school covered every phase of homicide, from the murder of infants to the police officer as a witness.

Chief Temple noted the course was attended by 74 law enforcement officers. Of the total 32 were from other states and three were from Canada.

Lectures at the seminar included some of the leading criminologists in the country. Among them was Frank P. Cleveland, M. D., Hamilton County Coroner. Dr. Cleveland is one of a very few forensic pathologists in the country, Temple said.

The cost of sending the two law officers to the school was $229.31. It was paid by the city. Both officers noted the Cincinnati Police Department was extremely hospitable.

Stock Mart Prices Falter

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market fell today, soured by sharp setbacks to copper stocks.

Trading was fairly active. Changes among key stocks were largely fractional but the lower tone marked a first clear pattern after three days of scrambled prices.

The government's decision to release 200,000 tons of copper from the stockpile to steady copper prices hit leading copper stocks.

Kennecott, nation's No. 1 copper producer, skidded about 4 points. Anaconda was down more than 3 and Phelps-Dodge more than 2. American smelting lost about a point.

The high fliers continued active and mostly higher, despite the generally dampened tone. Fairchild Camera advanced about 3 and Collins Radio gained more than 2 points.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 1.3 at 354.4. Industrials were down 2.7, rails off 4 and utilities down 3.

The Dow-Jones average of 30 industrials at noon dropped 4.74 to 891.83.

"As a result we hope to sell more Ohio products, including cars, computers and Toledo-made glassware as well as import more European items."

Ashville Bank....

PROTECTION DEVICE — John Wils, Circleville, points to one of the camera devices installed at The Ashville Bank ten days ago that filmed part of the robbery there yesterday. Signs noting that "cameras will film any holdup on these premises" were posted on windows of the building and at every teller's window in the bank. Bank employees said the robber was aware of the equipment and tried "to stay clear of the cameras' lens."

then placed the bills in a shopping bag.

The robber had an extension cord cut into 18-inch pieces, along with adhesive tape that he used to bind the eight bank employees. He covered their eyes and mouth with the tape. Four were ordered to stay in a back room; the other four were locked in the vault.

On duty at the time of the robbery in addition to Hines and Mrs. Knoch were Mabel Puckett, Nancy Bozman, Bonetta Hay, Doris Roof, Nancy Tosca and Bonetta Lemon.

CAMERAS installed in the bank were in operation at the time of the robbery. But the robber managed to stay clear of the cameras' lens for the most part.

However, according to Sheriff Radcliff, one picture of the fugitive was made available from the film. The photography outfit was installed only 10 days ago, according to Claude Kraft, bank president.

Identification of the robber was due largely to an observation made by Hines, executive vice president of the bank, on Oct. 27.

Move Is Expected To Nip Price Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government plans to release at least 200,000 tons of copper from its stockpile. It says the aim is to nip the climb in copper prices and ease a world shortage of the metal.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced the decision Wednesday night, saying the world copper situation threatens a disruption which could lead to strong inflationary developments.

The announcement came one week after similar government proposals had forced a price-rise rollback in the aluminum industry.

There was no immediate comment from major copper companies as to whether they would follow the aluminum pattern and cut back prices.

Most U.S. copper producers increased their prices 2 cents a pound — from 36 cents to 38 cents — during the early stages of the aluminum controversy. Only Kennecott Copper Corp. held firm at the lower level. The defense chief said speculative market prices in London and New York have been running between 67 and 70 cents a pound.

McNamara said the release plus three other actions affecting the metal had been discussed with leading U.S. copper companies.

He declined to reveal which companies but said: "I think they will fully support this action."

The other government decisions:

1. To control exports of copper and copper scrap "for an indefinite period to conserve domestic supply."

2. To ask Congress to suspend the 1.7-cent-a-pound import duty on copper, a protection McNamara said domestic producers don't need. The Western world used 5.3 million tons of refined copper last year but produced 4.4 million tons. The rest came from scrap.

3. To ask the New York Commodity Exchange to curb excessive speculation in copper trading by raising margin requirements for copper. He said the current margin is about 10 per cent, compared to an approximate 70 per cent on the New York Exchange.

Through an extensive investigation, it was learned that "a girl friend" of Price lived at 513 E. Town St., Columbus.

Price was last seen at about 11 p. m. yesterday in Columbus driving a 1957 model Ford. At noon today Sheriff Radcliff learned that the auto was found abandoned in Huntington, W. Va. The auto he was driving on Oct. 27 was also found about a week ago in the Huntington area.

The sheriff said search efforts are being intensified in the Huntington vicinity by West Virginia State Police and FBI agents.

Red Ambush

a sudden," said a survivor of the ambush, Staff Sgt. Miguel Seise of Augusta, Ga.

"It was coming from everywhere — the ground, the trees. Suddenly, everyone around me was getting hit and dying."

"I could hear screams all around me, all over the place. We fought and fought for what seemed hours. But it was no good."

"I told what was left of my men, and there weren't many, to pull back if they could."

"I told them they had a 50-50 chance of getting out."

"We started crawling away under terribly intense fire. We crawled 250 yards, then started running. I never ran so fast before."

"We had to leave most of the wounded people behind, there was nothing else for it. But we tried to help some of them by crawling with them."

"The ones we left behind were screaming in pain and fear. Someone shouted out, 'Don't leave me!', a lieutenant called out, 'Please shoot me. Please shoot me. I don't want them to get me.'"

The wake of battle left bodies in piles of 15 and 20. Some Americans died with their hands frozen in rifle-holding positions. But the rifles were gone, taken by the Communist troops to use against other Americans.

Works of U.S. Artists On Display in Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP) — The works of more than a hundred contemporary American artists go on display in the Cincinnati Art Museum next Tuesday.

Museum spokesmen said the Art: USA Show, which will continue through Dec. 16, is coming here after touring three continents and several American cities.

NEW ROLE FOR ROCKEFELLER—New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller seems to be enjoying his temporary job as he personally starts the demolition work at the site of a new, 200-bed hospital for mentally ill children on Ward's Island in the East River off Manhattan. The hospital will be one of 13 planned for the state.

Civil Rights Machinery Geared for Jury Justice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again the Justice Department's civil rights machinery is gearing up to meet presidential demands for tough legislation aimed at securing the rights of Negroes.

Two years ago it was sweeping civil rights legislation. Last spring it was a law aimed at guaranteeing the ballot to Negroes.

And now the object is a bill aimed at taking racial discrimination out of the jury box at all levels of the judicial system, from county to federal.

High-level department sources indicated Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach is starting from scratch in his attempt to draw up a bill that will meet the President's demand.

One Sable Found, Another Missing

NEW YORK (AP) — Entertainer Sheila MacRae lost her $15,000 Russian sable coat at Count Basie's Bar in Harlem—then regained it.

Mrs. MacRae and a number of show business friends were at the bar early Wednesday when she discovered her coat missing. She called police and her husband, Gordon, who was in Chicago.

But in the afternoon she got a telephone call from model Brigitte Ingberg, who said, "I'm so sorry," and went on to explain she had picked up the wrong coat.

Now the police are looking for Miss Ingberg's $15,000 sable coat.

Royal Opera House Hits Financial Crisis

LONDON (AP) — The Royal Opera House says it is in a financial crisis and has called on the British government for relief.

The opera house now receives a government subsidy of $2.45 for each $2.80 it takes in. During the year 1964-65 it received a subsidy of $2,153,570 for the opera and ballet.

The Earl of Drogheda, chairman of the board of the opera house, said Wednesday costs have risen so sharply that the estimated deficit for 1966-67 is given as $679,000.

City Officers Attend Course On Homicide

Circleville Chief of Police Robert Temple and Sgt. Leroy Hawks last week attended a seminar at Cincinnati covering the various phases of homicide investigation.

The school was presented by the Hamilton County Coroner's Office in cooperation with the University of Cincinnati, the Hamilton County Prosecutor's Office and the Cincinnati Police Department.

The six day school covered every phase of homicide, from the murder of infants to the police officer as a witness.

Lectures at the seminar included some of the leading criminologists in the country.

Among them was Frank P. Cleveland, M. D., Hamilton County Coroner. Dr. Cleveland is one of a very few forensic pathologists in the country, Temple said.

The cost of sending the two law officers to the school was $229.31. It was paid by the city.

Both officers noted the Cincinnati Police Department was extremely hospitable.

Stock Mart Prices Falter

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market fell today, soured by sharp setbacks to copper stocks.

Trading was fairly active. Changes among key stocks were largely fractional but the lower tone marked a first clear pattern after three days of scrambled prices.

The government's decision to release 200,000 tons of copper from the stockpile to steady copper prices hit leading copper stocks.

Kennecott, nation's No. 1 copper producer, skidded about 4 points. Anaconda was down more than 3 and Phelps-Dodge more than 2. American smelting lost about a point.

The high fliers continued active and mostly higher, despite the generally dampened tone. Fairchild Camera advanced about 3 and Collins Radio gained more than 2 points.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 1.3 at 354.4. Industrials were down 2.7, rails off 4 and utilities down 2.

The Dow-Jones average of 30 industrials at noon dropped 4.74 to 951.83.

Disaster Tag Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frank T. Bow, R - Ohio, has moved to have his home county, Stark, declared a disaster area as the result of Tuesday night's storm damage.

Armed Teenager...

"I've got a gun and I'm not afraid to use it."

"Then he fired three more shots in the floor."

Haake was the only other person in the lounge, Haney said. The husky 6-footer talked to Robinson calmly, pretending to go along with his wild plans about going to Cuba, even though Robinson now had a revolver in the other hand.

"He even fixed him a drink," Haney said.

"Then the kid calmed down and Haake pulled out a plastic holder full of gold coins. He asked the boy if he would like to see them. The kid said he was a coin collector."

"At some point along the way, the kid lowered his hands. I think he was going to reload the gun. When he put his hands together Haake grabbed them."

"Chris and I immediately jumped. I was the first one there. Haake 'ld his hands and I threw him against the seat."

"And while Haake held him, both Chris and I helped subdue him."

Robinson, neatly dressed in a grey-green Ivy League suit with a striped tie, was charged "with intent to intimidate the crew and influence the captain to take the plane to Havana, Cuba." At an arraignment in New Orleans, he was held on $50,000 bond.

The boy's father, William G. Robinson, a Brownsville businessman, said his son had called him at 2 p.m. apparently from the high school and said he would be home soon.

The next he heard was a 6:15 phone call from his son at the New Orleans airport. Robinson said his son did not explain why he had gone to New Orleans, but he sounded upset.

The elder Robinson said he phoned New Orleans police asking them to intercept his son, but they refused to act without a warrant.

In New Orleans, young Robinson tried to explain to newsmen why he tried to hijack the plane.

"I was hoping somebody else would wake up," he said when asked if he had planned to take over the aircraft single-handedly.

"Sometimes things happen," he said, when asked how much planning went into the hijack try. "You think of some things first."

"All the poor guys who are suffering in Cuba! It seems so unnecessary when the United States is so close."

"I don't think the government encourages the anti-Castro people enough. It is in the best interests of the United States to do so."

He could not say what he planned to do if he had gotten to Cuba.

Viet Collegians Deeply Involved In Nation's Fate

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Most of the college students in Viet Nam have never known their country at peace.

They have been instrumental in bringing down two governments, and they are a factor any regime has to reckon with. Some are draft dodgers, and there often is the feeling that many come under the influence of subversive movements, but the constructive views of others cannot be dismissed.

Thousands of restless students staged an antigovernment demonstration last August in Hue.

For four successive days, about 5,000 students held heated meetings. They denounced the chief of state, Nguyen Van Thieu, as an incompetent and called for a return to civilian rule.

The demonstrations ended peacefully.

In November 1963, students sided with Buddhists in the crisis that led to the death of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Last February, they took to the streets again and helped topple Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

The students charged that Diem and Khanh were corrupt and that their governments did not represent the people. The students were criticized by many as being a disruptive influence whose actions had set back the war against the Viet Cong.

To this day, however, many of the nation's 20,000 college students feel they were justified in ridding the nation of Diem and Khanh.

"In South Viet Nam," said one student, "we are involved in a very complicated war. It is not only a military war but also a cultural, social and economic war. We have to go to other frontiers — those of poverty, ignorance and disease. And it is with this prospect that Vietnamese youth have to struggle to find a meaning for their lives."

Yet the feeling persists among many that the students are more concerned with their own security than with the welfare of their country.

Last summer, however, more than 8,000 youth and student volunteers went out into the country and built new roads, houses, schools, dug wells and built health centers in 300 hamlets. In another social service program endorsed by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, they are helping the government develop one of Saigon's poorest slum districts.

While many students remain apathetic toward Ky — they feel the youthful flier is the wrong man for the job — they appear more interested in channeling their energies toward improving rather than ousting the government.

Most students probably would support views of the chairman of the General Association of Saigon Students, the largest student organization in the country.

"We are intensely anti-Communist but also intensely nationalistic," says this man, Tran Quang tri, 26. "We support the U.S. military effort in our country, but we would prefer a civilian government and we are looking forward to the day when the war ends and your troops go home."

When the wave of noisy student demonstrations against U.S. involvement in Viet Nam broke out in the United States, the organization mildly reprimanded U.S. students in an open letter that said:

"Vast America, in which you live, and little Viet Nam in which we still struggle to win the right to live free, are already soaked with the blood of our ancestors. It seems, however, that those who live in happiness now and enjoy unbounded freedom do not realize what it takes to maintain freedom. Freedom can be obtained only through hard fighting."

Some of the young people favor a more vigorous military offensive against the Communists. They have called for a stepup in bombings in North Viet Nam. A few who have had relatives killed by the Viet Cong would like to see the Allied forces launch a ground attack against North Viet Nam.

These are the students most likely to dismiss antiwar demonstrators in the United States as draft-dodgers, cowards, persons under Communist influence, or young persons who are misinformed.

A relatively small number of students have called for a neutralized settlement of the war and have urged a coalition government with the Communists. The majority of these attend the state-operated university in Hue, a traditional hotbed of agitation.

While students accept the presence of U.S. forces as necessary, they are sharply critical of many aspects of the U.S. military buildup.

For example, student papers have complained about the relations of U.S. troops with Vietnamese women and the lack of a status-of-forces agreement between South Viet Nam and the United States.

On the theory that the students need an outlet to "sound off," the nation's leaders have given them more freedom of expression than they probably have ever enjoyed. On the other hand, Ky has charged that intellectuals spend too much time talking about political abstractions.

There is some evidence that the Viet Cong have attempted to infiltrate student rings in Hue but apparently with little success.

Students insist that their military record is comparable to any other nation where universal military training is in effect.

One U.S. observer who has worked closely with Vietnamese students feels the mass of them have been wrongly accused of being troublemakers because of the irresponsible actions of a few.

"The great majority of university students do not care about politics," he says. "Many who do are politically ambitious themselves, but the bulk of them are motivated by a sense of national service and humanitarianism."

'Maxwell Smart' Fumbles in Off-Television Living, Too

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "My wife thinks I really am Maxwell Smart," laments comedian Don Adams, who plays the title role in the biggest hit of the new television season, "Get Smart."

In the series, which is the sole new show to make the hallowed top 10 in audience ratings, Adams plays an all-thumbs secret agent, the kind that could make James Bond cry U.N.C.L.E.

"My wife could be right," Adams sighed. "I'm the kind of a guy who is always knocking over water glasses and running out of gasoline. Whenever I do something like that, my wife says, 'You're Maxwell Smart, all right.'"

he external evidence seemed to bear him out. When he arrived for lunch at the Brown Derby, he was catching a cold. He ordered scrambled eggs and burned bacon. Burned bacon?

"That's right," he confided. "That's the only way you can really get it crisp. Only rarely does some smart-aleck chef really burn it."

The bacon arrived — burned. Despite occasional mishaps, Adams has had a good time of it in his chosen profession. Born Donald James Yarmy in New York City 38 years ago, he started writing comedy material while working as a commercial artist. His stuff clicked with the better comics, and Don decided to deliver some of it himself. He started climbing after winning on Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts show.

"For seven or eight years, I appeared on more television variety shows than any other stand-up comic," he said.

Bouncing back and forth between both coasts and playing night clubs all over, Adams found himself a rich gypsy. He was about to abandon performing for a career in production when he was cast for "The Bill Dana Show." A spin-off series was planned for him as the bumbling house detective, but the show was canceled before that happened.

Then came "Get Smart."

Last February, they took to the streets again and helped topple Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

The students charged that Diem and Khanh were corrupt and that their governments did not represent the people. The students were criticized by many as being a disruptive influence whose actions had set back the war against the Viet Cong.

To this day, however, many of the nation's 20,000 college students feel they were justified in ridding the nation of Diem and Khanh.

"In South Viet Nam," said one student, "we are involved in a very complicated war. It is not only a military war but also a cultural, social and economic war. We have to go to other frontiers — those of poverty, ignorance and disease. And it is with this prospect that Vietnamese youth have to struggle to find a meaning for their lives."

Yet the feeling persists among many that the students are more concerned with their own security than with the welfare of their country.

Last summer, however, more than 8,000 youth and student volunteers went out into the country and built new roads, houses, schools, dug wells and built health centers in 300 hamlets. In another social service program endorsed by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, they are helping the government develop one of Saigon's poorest slum districts.

While many students remain apathetic toward Ky — they feel the youthful flier is the wrong man for the job — they appear more interested in channeling their energies toward improving rather than ousting the government.

Most students probably would support views of the chairman of the General Association of Saigon Students, the largest student organization in the country.

"We are intensely anti-Communist but also intensely nationalistic," says this man, Tran Quang tri, 26. "We support the U.S. military effort in our country, but we would prefer a civilian government and we are looking forward to the day when the war ends and your troops go home."

When the wave of noisy student demonstrations against U.S. involvement in Viet Nam broke out in the United States, the organization mildly reprimanded U.S. students in an open letter that said:

"Vast America, in which you live, and little Viet Nam in which we still struggle to win the right to live free, are already soaked with the blood of our ancestors. It seems, however, that those who live in happiness now and enjoy unbounded freedom do not realize what it takes to maintain freedom. Freedom can be obtained only through hard fighting."

Some of the young people favor a more vigorous military offensive against the Communists. They have called for a stepup in bombings in North Viet Nam. A few who have had relatives killed by the Viet Cong would like to see the Allied forces launch a ground attack against North Viet Nam.

These are the students most likely to dismiss antiwar demonstrators in the United States as draft-dodgers, cowards, persons under Communist influence, or young persons who are misinformed.

A relatively small number of students have called for a neutralized settlement of the war and have urged a coalition government with the Communists. The majority of these attend the state-operated university in Hue, a traditional hotbed of agitation.

While students accept the presence of U.S. forces as necessary, they are sharply critical of many aspects of the U.S. military buildup.

For example, student papers have complained about the relations of U.S. troops with Vietnamese women and the lack of a status-of-forces agreement between South Viet Nam and the United States.

On the theory that the students need an outlet to "sound off," the nation's leaders have given them more freedom of expression than they probably have ever enjoyed. On the other hand, Ky has charged that intellectuals spend too much time talking about political abstractions.

There is some evidence that the Viet Cong have attempted to infiltrate student rings in Hue but apparently with little success.

Students insist that their military record is comparable to any other nation where universal military training is in effect. One U.S. observer who has worked closely with Vietnamese students feels the mass of them have been wrongly accused of being troublemakers because of the irresponsible actions of a few.

"The great majority of university students do not care about politics," he says. "Many who do are politically ambitious themselves, but the bulk of them are motivated by a sense of national service and humanitarianism."

Farm Union Fights Unfair Stock Marts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Farmers Union wants stronger government enforcement of laws designed to air unfair trade practices in the nation's livestock and livestock product markets.

Recommendations to this effect are scheduled to be presented to the National Commission on Food Marketing, set up by Congress to recommend possible changes in the nation's food marketing system.

Angus McDonald, director of research for the farmers union, said inadequate funds are limiting Agriculture Department effectiveness in policing livestock markets against practices that interfere with open price competition.

McDonald said enforcement of the Packers and Stockyards Act banning unfair trade practices "has not only been lax but practically non-existent until recently."

The farmers union will recommend substantially increased fines for antitrust violations of the Packers and Stockyards Act. It also would permit persons injured by unfair trade practices to sue for much larger damages than presently allowed. Furthermore, it would not permit fines to be listed as operating returns.

'Maxwell Smart' Fumbles in Off-Television Living, Too

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "My wife thinks I really am Maxwell Smart," laments comedian Don Adams, who plays the title role in the biggest hit of the new television season, "Get Smart."

In the series, which is the sole new show to make the hallowed top 10 in audience ratings, Adams plays an all-thumbs secret agent, the kind that could make James Bond cry U.N.C.L.E.

"My wife could be right," Adams sighed. "I'm the kind of a guy who is always knocking over water glasses and running out of gasoline. Whenever I do something like that, my wife says, 'You're Maxwell Smart, all right!'"

he external evidence seemed to bear him out. When he arrived for lunch at the Brown Derby, he was catching a cold. He ordered scrambled eggs and burned bacon. Burned bacon?

"That's right," he confided. "That's the only way you can really get it crisp. Only rarely does some smart-aleck chef really burn it."

The bacon arrived — burned. Despite occasional mishaps, Adams has had a good time of it in his chosen profession. Born Donald James Yarmy in New York City 38 years ago, he started writing comedy material while working as a commercial artist. His stuff clicked with the

NEW YORK (AP) — The economy is picking up new strength at the halfway mark in the final quarter of the year.

And the hubbalooboo over aluminum prices — even the temporary breakdown of electric power in the industrial Northeast — is likely to add to the tempo on the final weeks of the year — if for no other reason than the rush to catch up after the disruption and uncertainty of the first two weeks of November.

The statistics of the economy seem sure to be fatter at year-end — both in dollar volume — and in unit volume.

Copper prices are going up as supplies tighten. Part of the push behind prices in this metal is from political uproar in production centers in South America and central Africa, forcing world prices higher. Much of the rise in the United States is due to increasing demand for metal.

Steel production is taking a tentative step upward again. It had been lagging since a labor settlement early in September ended fear of a strike. This sent customers to living off of stockpiles built up as a precaution.

Auto production is booming, and so are sales of the new models. Most people see this as assurance that public confidence in good times ahead is strong — and that consumer spending still is free wheeling.

This should assure record retail sales in the weeks just ahead. It's the season of great activity for most merchants. And personal income totals continue to rise. High employment and higher wage scales are helping. There's also a boost from such sidelines as stock dividends. Payments are at a record so far this year. And the first year-end extras signal a record outflow of cash from corporate coffers to shareholders.

Rising prices here and there will give a misleading glow to some of the statistics reckoned in dollars. This inflation, so far mild, colors the reports of the economy in general. But the big boost still is in the actual unit volume — the rising total of goods, the increased number of persons at work.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

My friend is 35 years old and has had hardening of the arteries. Last year he had a spell of coronary insufficiency. Since then he has increased his smoking to three packs a day and he drinks two cases of beer a week. He does not follow his low cholesterol diet. How long can he last doing this?

Dear Mr. K.: Your friend needs an additional friend, particularly his doctor, if he is to "last" any time at all. Your intimate knowledge of his condition and his medication indicates a clear understanding of his behavior and an apparent inability to be of help to him.

At his very early age of 35 he has arteriosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, most unusual at this age, also affected the coronary blood vessels to his heart and interfered with its pumping mechanism.

After such a severe episode, he is alive and well. Now, the sheer nonsense of self-destruction begins. He increased his tobacco, increased his beer, went off his cholesterol free diet and almost perversely is committing suicide the hard way.

Most mature adults, after such a harrowing coronary experience, are so glad to be alive that they rigidly conform to every limitation of food, alcohol and tobacco that is suggested to them.

You, too, will need a friend, for this one with his stubbornness won't stay around long enough to be one.

His physician and his friends can yet persuade him, and keep him sufficiently in line so that he can continue to be a service to himself and a friend to you.

Can anything be done for the stretch marks on the abdomen caused by childbirth?

Mrs. C. C., New Jersey

Dear Mrs. C.: The stretch

marks can be called the "hash marks" of a proud mother. Why would anyone want to get rid of such happy marks of distinction?

There is virtually nothing that can be done to erase these marks made when the skin of the abdominal wall and breasts is expanded during pregnancy. Special hormone creams, exfoliating gadgets and other quackeries will not affect the stretch marks but will definitely fill the outstretched hand of the "quackateer."

Never ignore persistent fever. Fever is the body's signal that an infection may be present.

City Versus Suburb?

By John Chamberlain

History is made by the tides caused by strange alliances and the eruption of strange civil wars. The Age of the Barons came to an end in some countries when the king made successful common cause with the nascent middle classes to build the national state. In other places, notably in pre-Bismarckian Germany, the petty princes held on for an unconscionably long time. When the German national state finally came into existence, its belatedness took a peculiarly menacing form.

Today other lines of cleavage call for new genius in forming workable alliances. America is losing contact with its rural origins, but its new citified condition does not make for a single character. Everywhere there is a latent political division between urbanites and suburbanites. Work is done in the cities, but the profits therefrom flow to the suburbs. The cities become uglier and uglier; the suburbs, though they have their depressingly conventional row developments, tend to monopolize what beauty we have. And, in places, suburban man manages to evade contact with cities entirely; he works in an "industrial park," he buys his goods in a shopping center on the post road, he relaxes at a drive-in, and he lives among trees with some space between himself and his neighbors.

There is no open civil war as yet between the urbanite and the suburbanite. But unlovely things are happening that could build trouble for the future. In Washington, D. C., the affluent whites move into Maryland and Virginia, turning over much of the city to poverty-stricken Negroes from the rural South. "De facto" segregation is the rule in many Washington Schools, which have an 85-15 division between Negro and white pupils. In New York City, Negroes and Puerto Ricans move in while the middle classes depart for Nassau and Westchester counties and Connecticut. The main preoccupation of many middle classes depart for Nassau and Westchester counties and parts of New Jersey and Connecticut. The main preoccupation of many middle-class citizens who work in the New York borough of Manhattan is getting out of town at the rush hour.

The necessarily huge bills run up by the big cities must be paid, and this might be made easier if we had "metropolitan government" that cut across conventional political limits. But just ask a citizen of Scarsdale, New York, if he wants to be taxed directly to help Mayor-elect John Lindsay clean up Harlem.

In Dade County, Florida, an effort has been made to solve some of Greater Miami's urban problems by the creation of "Metro" government for a whole complex of big city and smaller communities. Yet is an article of faith among many conservative suburbanites that the "Metro" idea is something that was spawned by eggheads who are probably in league with the Communists.

The tacit enemies that exist between city and suburb must put the first head of our new cabinet-rank Department of Urban Affairs on the spot. The new cabinet officer will be dealing over the heads of state governors with the mayors of big cities. To help the mayors of the big cities solve their problems, the new cabinet officer will need tax money. But it is the suburbanites who have most of the money. How will they tend to vote on issues touching their pocket nerves? Will suburbanites look to their state governors for protection against Washington? Or will they acquiesce gracefully when they are called upon to pay the major share for urban renewal in the cities where they no longer live and vote?

The problems caused by our big cities exist because the cities themselves are, in many respects, no longer functional. Since factors and shopping centers in the age of the automobile can be spread out, there is no necessary reason for man to huddle together in great urban conglomerations. Racial anomalies tend to preserve big cities beyond their actual usefulness. The Negro deserts the rural South for reasons that are rooted in his own special past. There is not economic reason why he should stay forever in Harlem or Chicago's South Side. But he tends to get stuck in Northern cities because he can't break down the hypocrisies that might let him become suburban, too.

There are taboos in talking about the suburban man. But we won't solve our problems by trying to shove them out of sight.

C., the affluent whites move into Maryland and Virginia, turning over much of the city to poverty-stricken Negroes from the rural South. "De facto" segregation is the rule in many Washington Schools, which have an 85-15 division between Negro and white pupils. In New York City, Negroes and Puerto Ricans move in while the middle classes depart for Nassau and Westchester counties and parts of New Jersey and Connecticut. The main preoccupation of many middle classes depart for Nassau and Westchester counties and parts of New Jersey and Connecticut. The main preoccupation of many middle-class citizens who work in the New York borough of Manhattan is getting out of town at the rush hour.

The necessarily huge bills run up by the big cities must be paid, and this might be made easier if we had "metropolitan government" that cut across conventional political limits. But just ask a citizen of Scarsdale, New York, if he wants to be taxed directly to help Mayor-elect John Lindsay clean up Harlem.

In Dade County, Florida, an effort has been made to solve some of Greater Miami's urban problems by the creation of "Metro" government for a whole complex of big city and smaller communities. Yet is an article of faith among many conservative suburbanites that the "Metro" idea is something that was spawned by eggheads who are probably in league with the Communists.

The tacit enmities that exist between city and suburb must put the first head of our new cabinet-rank Department of Urban Affairs on the spot. The new cabinet officer will be dealing over the heads of state governors with the mayors of big cities. To help the mayors of the big cities solve their problems, the new cabinet officer will need tax money. But it is the suburbanites who have most of the money. How will they tend to vote on issues touching their pocket nerves? Will suburbanites look to their state governors for protection against Washington? Or will they acquiesce gracefully when they are called upon to pay the major share for urban renewal in the cities where they no longer live and vote?

The problems caused by our big cities exist because the cities themselves are, in many respects, no longer functional. Since factors and shopping centers in the age of the automobile can be spread out, there is no necessary reason for man to huddle together in great urban conglomerations. Racial animosities tend to preserve big cities beyond their actual usefulness. The Negro deserts the rural South for reasons that are rooted in his own special past. There is not economic reason why he should stay forever in Harlem or Chicago's South Side. But he tends to get stuck in Northern cities because he can't break down the hypocrisies that might let him become suburban, too.

There are taboos in talking about the cleavage between urban and suburban man. But we won't solve our problems by trying to shove them out of sight.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Marshall, Ashville, entertained at a birthday party honoring their son Maynard Lynn on his 7th birthday.

The Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce planned to tour the Ralston Purina plant.

A golf trophy dinner was conducted at the Pickaway Country Club.

TEN YEARS AGO

A film entitled "Martin Luther" was to be shown at the Williamsport Methodist Church.

Despite heavy afternoon rains, an abundance of rabbits and pheasants were seen or killed on opening day of the small game hunting season here.

Circleville's favorite son, Ted Lewis, was a visitor Tuesday.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

A Union Thanksgiving service for all Stoutsville churches was to be held at the Reformed Church.

The temperature reading here dropped to a low of 16 degrees during the morning.

Pickaway County High School's basketball season moved into full swing.

This is the time of the year when the semi-annual Great Office War breaks out afresh—the battle between the fresh-air fiends and the closed-window addicts.

What he can't understand, says Zadok Dumkopf, is how the so-called common cold can be so uncommonly annoying.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH... By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

My friend is 35 years old and has had hardening of the arteries. Last year he had a spell of coronary insufficiency. Since then he has increased his smoking to three packs a day and he drinks two cases of beer a week. He does not follow his low cholesterol diet. How long can he last doing this?

Mr. D.A.K., Kansas

Dear Mr. K.: Your friend needs an additional friend, particularly his doctor, if he is to "last" any time at all.

Your intimate knowledge of his condition and his medications indicates a clear understanding of his behavior and an apparent inability to be of help to him.

At his very early age of 35 he has arteriosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries. This narrowing of the blood vessels, most unusual at this age, also affected the coronary blood vessels to his heart and interfered with its pumping mechanism.

After such a severe episode, he is alive and well.

Now, the sheer nonsense of self-destruction begins. He increased his tobacco, increased his beer, went off his cholesterol free diet and almost perversely is committing suicide the hard way.

Most mature adults, after such a harrowing coronary experience, are so glad to be alive that they rigidly conform to every limitation of food, alcohol and tobacco that is suggested to them.

You, too, will need a friend, for this one with his stubbornness won't stay around long enough to be one.

His physician and his friends can yet persuade him, and keep him sufficiently in line so that he can continue to be a service to himself and a friend to you.

Can anything be done for the stretch marks on the abdomen caused by childbirth?

Mrs. C. C., New Jersey

Dear Mrs. C.: The stretch

Yule Gift: a Sugar Plum Factory

NEW YORK (AP) — A sugar plum factory, a leather hippopotamus and helpful hints on how to spend a million dollars — there is something for everyone in the Christmas catalogues this year.

Even Neiman-Marcus, the Texas store with dollar-studded ideas, boggles at the possibilities presented by what is shaping up as a record Christmas spending spree.

The store worked its way through a sheepskin-covered mechanical horse, $150; his and her para-sails — “an amazing, ascending nylon parachute that goes from the surface up” for $361 apiece; a five-foot long rustic wagon with a polyfoam mattress, $145; and pink champagne pancakes, 88.

Then it set out to offer some help on how to tender a little affection—say a million dollars worth. On a woman, of course.

You start with $300 lace handkerchief, thumb through a few baubles such as a $465,000 diamond necklace, the usual sable, chinchilla and limousine, a $450 umbrella with a genuine blonde tortoise handle, a 25-day Aegean cruise with your nine dearest friends, an 18-karat gold needle for $15, and still end up $101,787.38 short of the goal.

“A little loose change to fritter away, in case we’ve forgotten something,” Neiman-Marcus advises.

Stores across the land will be glad to help you fritter away the change. Their Christmas catalogues already are in the mail.

Abercrombie & Fitch Co., the sportsmen’s spot in New York, Chicago and San Francisco, opens with Alaskan polar bear skins, “subject to availability,” for $975, and has handsome leather footstools for hunters — a 68-inch hippo or rhinoceros, $450.

At F.A.O. Schwarz, the Fifth Avenue toy store, there is a lollipop factory, complete with conveyor, cooker, pushbutton automatic ingredient dispenser, mixer, molds and lollipop sticks, $15.

If money is no object, how about:

A Colt Paterson belt pistol, with flared walnut grips and folding trigger, Abercrombie & Fitch, $9,500.

A pointe Milan lace tablecloth, Plummer-McCutcheon, $1,500.

A life-sized tiger, Schwarz, $295.

Baseball Season Ends, So Pair Gets Married

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — Tom Hambaugh and Rosa McDonald found a common interest. Both liked to hear radio broadcasts of the San Francisco Giants baseball games.

“Oh, dear, what will we talk about now?” Rosa asked after the season ended.

“Let’s talk about getting married,” suggested Tom.

The Rev. Joseph Fouquette married them at a rest home Tuesday.

Tom, who is blind, is 92. Rosa, nearly blind, is 91.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren Leave Things Be!

DEAR ABBY: My brother, Joe, passed away last January and was buried in a plot with an empty plot beside it. I was told the other plot was for Hilda, (Hilda is his second wife.) I knew Joe had bought a double plot when his first wife, Zelda, had died, and I was surprised that Joe wasn't buried next to Zelda. However, I didn't say anything. Just yesterday my brother, Hymie, who was in charge of all the funeral arrangements, told me confidentially that in Joe's will he asked to be buried next to Zelda, but the will wasn't read until after the burial. I told Hymie that I didn't think this was right, and we should take steps to do something about it. Hymie said, "Oh, what's the difference? Joe and Zelda are both dead now, and it might hurt Hilda." What do you think?

THE SISTER
DEAR SISTER: Let the sleeping man lie. No good will come from exhuming the issue.

DEAR ABBY: Virgil and I have been married for 14 years and we have three children. Our problem is our families—on both sides. They have made nervous wrecks of my husband and me. On the advice of several doctors, we have decided to quit associating with our relatives, but they refuse to leave us alone. They drop in all the time and irritate us by bringing up subjects they know we don't care to talk about. If they give us Christmas gifts this year, should we accept them or not? If you advise us to accept them, we'll have to give them gifts—right? I hate the thought of such hypocrisy. There is no getting along with these people. They have stirred up nothing but trouble ever since our marriage. What is your advice?

VIRGIL'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: I advise you to follow your doctors' orders, and quit associating with all who irritate you. But let these people know of your intentions so they won't continue to drop in and annoy you. Once you have done this, you won't have to worry about any Christmas gifts.

ter found it was the nine-year-old boy who had taken them. I liked the answer you gave him, and hope for the boy's sake your advice is heeded.

If this roomer could sit down and visit with some of the 12- and 13-year-old boys in a Training School or Reform School, he would learn that most of these boys blame their teachers and parents for letting them get away with small things until they were finally caught by the police, and then it was too late for parents to intervene.

I've worked with boys in trouble, and most of them tell me they never had a father who cared enough to punish them unless he was drunk, and then he used his fists or a club. I know of some cases where the boy continued to steal until he tried the "big job," which cost him his life with a bullet in his head or a car wreck while fleeing the police.

Maybe if you print this letter, parents and teachers will realize they owe the young people entrusted to them the time and effort to make sure they are punished for all wrong acts before it is too late.

Thanksgiving Proclamation

For all the blessings that have been bestowed upon our nation during the past twelve months, it is a small thing to give thanks to almighty God.

When the pilgrims first 350 years ago, life was harsh and unrelenting. Cold and sickness had diminished their ranks. Their shelter was crude. Their future was uncertain. Yet when their harvest was abundant, they considered themselves blessed—and their hearts were filled with gratitude.

Today we have much more than an abundant harvest. Our nation is rich and strong and united in the cause of liberty and justice. Our physical comforts are unmatched anywhere in the world. Our medicine has conquered ancient diseases.

In the past year we have added greatly to that national legacy. We have guaranteed the right to vote to all our citizens. We have pledged dignity to our elderly—even in sickness. We have added new dimensions to our education of our youth. We have broadened the horizons of opportunity for our poor. And all the while, we have enjoyed the greatest prosperity in history.

But our real blessings lie not in our bounty. They live in those steadfast principles that the early pilgrims forged for all generations to come: the belief in the essential dignity of man; the restless search for a better world as shown by the courage — as for all; and the cause of freedom wherever on earth it is threatened.

These are the eternal blessings of America. They are the blessings which make us grateful even when the future is uncertain. They are the blessings which give us the strength to complete the unfinished tasks that remain before us.

For these blessings should we thank God most of all. Now, therefore, I, Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States of America, in conformance with the joint resolution of the Congress approved December 26, 1941, designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 25, 1965, as a day of national Thanksgiving.

On that day, let us gather in our homes and in our places of worship to thank God for his generosity. Let us make ourselves worthy of that generosity by pledging to him our everlasting devotion. And let us pray to him that the forces of violence, indifference and intolerance may soon vanish from the face of the earth so that peace and understanding and love may reign supreme.

I witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

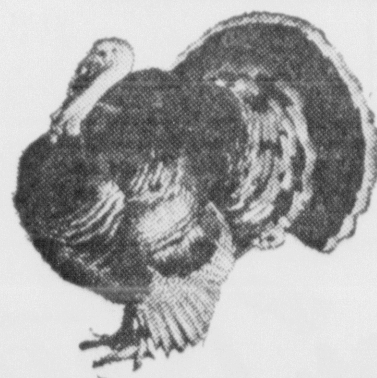

Done at the city of Washington this tenth day of November in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty-five, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and ninth.

(Signed) Lyndon B. Johnson.

Thanksgiving Proclamation

For all the blessings that have been bestowed upon our nation during the past twelve months, it is a small thing to give thanks to almighty God.

When the pilgrims first observed Thanksgiving nearly 350 years ago, life was harsh and unrelenting. Cold and sickness had diminished their ranks. Their shelter was crude. Their future was uncertain. Yet when their harvest was abundant, they considered themselves blessed—and their hearts were filled with gratitude.

Today we have much more than an abundant harvest. Our nation is rich and strong and united in the cause of liberty and justice. Our physical comforts are unmatched anywhere in the world. Our medicine has conquered ancient diseases.

In the past year we have added greatly to that national

legacy. We have guaranteed the right to vote to all our citizens. We have pledged dignity to our elderly—even in sickness. We have added new dimensions to our education of our youth. We have broadened the horizons of opportunity for our poor. And all the while, we have enjoyed the greatest prosperity in history.

But our real blessings lie not in our bounty. They live in those steadfast principles that the early pilgrims forged for all generations to come: the belief in the essential dignity of man; the restless search for a better world for all; and the courage—as shown by our sons in Viet Nam today—to defend the cause of freedom wherever on earth it is threatened.

These are the eternal blessings of America. They are the blessings which make us grateful even when the future is uncertain. They are the blessings which give us the strength to complete the unfinished tasks that remain before us.

For these blessings should we thank God most of all. Now, therefore, I, Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States of America, in conformance with the joint resolution of the Congress approved December 26, 1941, designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 25, 1965, as a day of national Thanksgiving.

On that day, let us gather in our homes and in our places of worship to thank God for his generosity. Let us make ourselves worthy of that generosity by pledging to him our everlasting devotion. And let us pray to him that the forces of violence, indifference and intolerance may soon vanish from the face of the earth so that peace and understanding and love may reign supreme.

I witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this tenth day of November in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty-five, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and ninth.

(Signed) Lyndon B. Johnson.

President, Princess Dance At Party in White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was "Everything's Coming Up Roses" as President Johnson launched the dancing with Princess Margaret at a candlelit White House party honoring the royal British visitor and her husband.

The gay, informal festivities, also marking the Johnsons' 31st wedding anniversary — went on until 2 a.m. and the frug and waltz shared equal billing in the East Ballroom.

The princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon, were enjoying themselves "wildly," said lady-in-waiting Elizabeth Cavendish.

And the President, in a happy mood himself, drew rounds of applause and laughter with his champagne toast to the princess, capped by advice to Lord Snowdon from his own formula for a happy marriage.

He said: "I have learned that only two things are necessary to keep one's wife happy.

"First, let her think she is having her own way. And second, let her have it."

Johnson declared he was beginning his 32nd year of marriage "with the most wonderful woman in the world." And the dinner guests burst into applause.

In her toast, the princess said she would take home "superlatively happy memories of all that we have seen and done."

Johnson told the royal couple "your coming has been good for us. You have reminded us that we are a young and a gay people who respond to the smile and warmth of a young couple."

The Johnsons and the royal visitors danced "The Anniversary Waltz" and the guests of honor departed Mrs. Johnson twirled Lord Snowdon through the marble foyer for a last dance and Johnson followed her lead with the princess.

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The Brazilian government is going to make life hard for hunters, pet shop owners and zoo buyers.

A recent governmental order is designed to put a full stop to hunting of a list of birds and animals that runs from parrots, through monkeys to jaguars.

There was a bright note for American duck hunters, too. Wild ducks will be protected on their southern stay in Brazilian marshes.

Court Ruling Brings First New Trials

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"No person shall be compelled, in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself," says the Ohio Constitution—and it should have stopped right there, the Ohio Supreme Court indicates.

Because it goes on to say "but his failure to testify may be considered by the court and jury and may be the subject of comment by counsel," two convicted men are entitled to new trials and more may be in the offing.

The Ohio high tribunal ruled Wednesday that the state constitution's Article I Section 10 conflicts with a recent U. S. Supreme Court ruling and threw out the convictions of appellants Lindsay Reed and Charles P. Browning.

Reed was convicted of armed robbery in Hamilton County and Browning in Lucas County.

The U. S. Supreme Court last April reversed a first-degree murder conviction in California because the prosecution remarked on the defendant's failure to take the stand.

The court said such comment violates a constitutional protection against forcing anyone to incriminate himself.

Ohio convicts and lawyers, like others around the country, proceeded to appeal cases in which such comment was made in court. Reed's and Browning's cases were the first to be reviewed by the Ohio Supreme Court.

Stop Hunting

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The Brazilian government is going to make life hard for hunters, pet shop owners and zoo buyers.

A recent governmental order is designed to put a full stop to hunting of a list of birds and animals that runs from parrots, through monkeys to jaguars.

There was a bright note for American duck hunters, too. Wild ducks will be protected on their southern stay in Brazilian marshes.

Views on Television — Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's secret-agent epidemic has even infected the writers of the Bob Hope Theatre on NBC. "Russain Roulette" Wednesday night was an hour comedy notable for the presence of Hope playing his usual character, this time called Les Haines. It is really the same fellow who has been turning up for years, from the "road" pictures to his last T-V sketch.

In this one he was a famous American comedian entertaining a GI audience in West Berlin at a time when a pilot of a disabled reconnaissance plane parachuted into the Soviet Union.

The pilot had failed to take his poison pill, a suspicious circumstance, so an intrepid American Mata Hari was assigned to contact the imprisoned flyer. She in turn was being spied upon by the Soviets, who were being spied upon by Red Chinese.

Hope, of course, was the vain, innocent dupe. There was a lot of chasing around. But the most fun were the gadgets — a perfume atomizer that contains knockout gas, a lipstick that is really a gun and photographic equipment disguised as compact and eyelash curler.

It ended hilariously if extremely abruptly. Hope was his usual urbane self and Jill St. John made a very shapely if unconvincing spy. The story, unimpaired, had a hurried, unimpaired quality about it.

The debate inside TV went on whether the pre-broadcast stories of Frank Sinatra's objections to Tuesday night's flatteringly CBS special, "Sinatra," was really a successful publicity stunt. Whatever it was, an overnight audience survey by the American Research Bureau gave the show a rating of 19.2 indicating it had a larger audience than any rival broadcasts at the same time and achieved one of the highest ratings ever by a news or public affairs show in that time slot.

Recommended tonight: "Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus," NBC, 7:30-8:30 EST; "Inherit the Wind," NBC, 9:30-11, an adaptation of the Broadway play based on the Scopes trial with Melvyn Douglas and Ed Begley recreating their original roles.

Locher Gains In Cleveland Vote Recount

CLEVELAND (AP)—The recounting of Cleveland mayoral election votes resumes today with more changes in the tally.

Wednesday's results boosted Mayor Ralph S. Locher's edge from 1,924 to 2,051.

The recount, requested by State Rep. Carl B. Stokes, who ran a close second in the Nov. 2 election, took a turn against the Negro attorney Wednesday at the end of the first day of the recount.

Results of 440 precincts recounted showed Locher picking up 113 votes and Stokes losing 14 to give Locher, endorsed by the Democratic party, a net gain of 127.

Ray C. Miller, chairman of the Cuyahoga County Election Board, said the recount could be completed Friday.

There are 1,189 polling places in Cleveland.

Stokes, who ran as an independent Democrat, was required to deposit $10 for each precinct to be recounted.

Mistakes were found in 219 of the 421 paper-ballot precincts checked by the 105 election board workers.

Saul G. Stillman, election board member, said no mistakes were found in recounting 19 precincts using voting machines.

Sugar Beet Allotment Hike Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's sugar beet growers get a chance today to ask the Agriculture Department for increased 1966 crop acreage allotments.

Allotments are assigned individual growers under federal regulations designed to prevent overproduction of beets, and, subsequently, lower prices.

The Agriculture Department sponsored a hearing Sept. 8 in Denver, at which grower associations and sugar beet processors suggested that 1966 allotments should range from 1,325,000 to 1,350,000 acres. Allotments for the 1965 crop totaled 1,375,000.

Before the Denver hearing, the department had indicated it might reduce next year's allotments because of prospects that extra or inventory supplies of beet sugar from this year's crop might accumulate. It forecast sugar production from the 1965 beet crop between 3 million and 3.1 million tons.

Under the sugar control program, the 1966 marketing quota tentatively has been set by the Agriculture Department at 3,025,000 tons, same as this year.

But since the Denver hearing, there have been indications that sugar tonnage may be somewhat less than had been expected. As a consequence, proposals may be made today to hold the 1966 allotment to this year's level of 1,375,000 acres.

Muskingum River National Play Area OK'd by Lausche

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, suggested today that the Muskingum River be made a national recreation area between Zanesville, Ohio, and the Ohio River.

In a letter to Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, the senator reviewed unsuccessful attempts to make commercial navigation on the river financially feasible. He likened the effort to the Hennepin Canal project in Illinois.

Lausche then went on to say that the Hennepin Canal now is being considered as a site for a recreation area and a water conservation project.

"It is my recollection," Lausche wrote, "that early in

1951 the Corps of (Army) Engineers announced plans to abandon the utility of the Muskingum River as a financially feasible

Farm Bureau Hands Out Its Awards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Today was "honors" day at the annual meeting of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, with individuals, groups and counties coming in for awards.

Topping today's list of honors are the organization's Distinguished Service Awards to Sen. Frank J. Lausche, and A. F. Moon, a Shelby County farmer who has been a pioneering agricultural leader since 1910.

Six Ohio counties were honored during the 47th annual session, receiving the Advisory Council Award for securing the most new advisory councils in 1965. Van Wert, Seneca, and Sandusky counties tied for first place in the Northwest region; Stark County won in the Northeast region; Clark County in the Southwest region, and Knox County in the Southeast.

ble commercial transportation artery, just as it did with respect of the Hennepin Canal. "In other words, the story of the Muskingum River, as dealt with by the Corps of Engineers of the United States government, from Zanesville to the Ohio River is, in effect, a practical duplicate of the situation that prevails with regard to the Hennepin Canal . . .

"This Muskingum River, in its 110-mile length down through the Muskingum Valley, runs

He expressed the opinion that utilization of the Muskingum as a national recreational area, or as a federal land and water conservation project, could be achieved at a cost that would be inconsequential in relation to the great good that it would do for the citizens of Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and the people of other states in this centrally located area of the country."

Sugar Beet Allotment Hike Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's sugar beet growers get a chance today to ask the Agriculture Department for increased 1966 crop acreage allotments.

Allotments are assigned individual growers under federal regulations designed to prevent overproduction of beets, and, subsequently, lower prices.

The Agriculture Department sponsored a hearing Sept. 8 in Denver, at which grower associations suggested that 1966 allotments should range from 1,325,000 to 1,350,000 acres. Allotments for the 1965 crop totaled 1,375,000.

Under the sugar control program, the 1966 marketing quota tentatively has been set by the Agriculture Department at 3,025,000 tons, same as this year.

But since the Denver hearing, there have been indications that sugar tonnage may be somewhat less than had been expected. As a consequence, proposals may be made today to hold the 1966 allotment to this year's level of 1,375,000 acres.

Locher Gains In Cleveland Vote Recount

CLEVELAND (AP)—The recounting of Cleveland mayoral election votes resumes today with more changes in the offing.

Wednesday's results boosted Mayor Ralph S. Locher's edge from 1,924 to 2,051.

The recount, requested by State Rep. Carl B. Stokes who ran a close second in the Nov. 2 election, took a turn against the Negro attorney Wednesday at the end of the first day of the recount.

Results of 440 precincts recounted showed Locher picking up 113 votes and Stokes losing 14 to give Locher, endorsed by the Democratic party, a net gain of 127.

Ray C. Miller, chairman of the Cuyahoga County Election Board, said the recount could be completed Friday.

There are 1,189 polling places in Cleveland.

Stokes, who ran as an independent Democrat, was required to deposit $10 for each precinct to be recounted.

Mistakes were found in 219 of the 421 paper-ballot precincts checked by the 105 election board workers.

Saul D. Stillman, election board member, said no mistakes were found in recounting 19 precincts using voting machines.

Tail Lights Sought On Wagons and Sleds

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — Moonlight in Vermont will get some artificial aid if the motor vehicle commissioner, James E. Malloy, has his way.

Malloy wants to erase a law allowing hay wagons and long-ging sleds on the roads at night without a lighted lantern in back. The law dates to a time when kerosene lamps could have started a fire. A tail light should be required, Malloy said, even on hay rides.

Muskingum River National Play Area OK'd by Lausche

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, suggested today that the Muskingum River be made a national recreation area between Zanesville, Ohio, and the Ohio River.

In a letter to Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, the senator reviewed unsuccessful attempts to make commercial navigation on the river financially feasible. He likened the effort to the Hennepin Canal project in Illinois.

Lausche then went on to say that the Hennepin Canal now is being considered as a site for a recreation area and a water conservation project.

"It is my recollection," Lausche wrote, "that early in

1951 the Corps of (Army) Engineers announced plans to abandon the utility of the Muskingum River as a financially feasible

Farm Bureau Hands Out Its Awards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Today was "honors" day at the annual meeting of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, with individuals, groups and counties coming in for awards.

Topping today's list of honors are the organization's Distinguished Service Awards to Sen. Frank J. Lausche, and A. F. Moon, a Shelby County farmer who has been a pioneering agricultural leader since 1910.

Six Ohio counties were honored during the 47th annual session, receiving the Advisory Council Award for securing the most new advisory councils in 1965. Van Wert, Seneca, and Sandusky counties tied for first place in the Northwest region; Stark County won in the Northeast region; Clark County in the Southwest region, and Knox County in the Southeast.

ble commercial transportation artery, just as it did with respect of the Hennepin Canal.

"In other words, the story of the Muskingum River, as dealt with by the Corps of Engineers of the United States government, from Zanesville to the Ohio River is, in effect, a practical duplicate of the situation that prevails with regard to the Hennepin Canal . . .

"This Muskingum River, in its 110-mile length down through the Muskingum Valley, runs

through a most picturesque potential recreational area.

He expressed the opinion that utilization of the Muskingum as a national recreational area, or as a federal land and water conservation project, could be achieved at a cost that would be inconsequential in relation "to the great good that it would do for the citizens of Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and the people of other states in this centrally located area of the country."

Farm Mart Problem Eyed

Experts Point Up Modern Operations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Delegates to the Ohio Farm Bureau's 47th annual meeting here Wednesday heard two marketing experts point up the importance of modern marketing operations to today's farmer.

Dr. Kenneth Hood, director of the American Farm Bureau's marketing division, outlined marketing as the key to farm progress and the activities of farm bureaus in providing the key.

Tracing the history of marketing in this country, he stressed the change from a "quaint system of peddling and borrowing of a miscellaneous array of farm products to the complex distribution system we know today."

"We are part of this change," he said, "and our most important activity in the Farm Bureau is serving this growing need of members in tomorrow's marketing."

C. William Swank, general manager of Ohio Agricultural Marketing Association, said 1965 had been a year of substantial progress for his association, particularly in the tomato division.

He said the association's efforts to help tomato farmers get a new contract with processors resulted in a general price increase of $3.50 per ton and representing more than a $1 million increase for growers over last year.

Frank Sollars, president of the federation and a Fayette County farmer, had this solution to the farmers' perpetual problem of over-production: "Raise more, but at the same time increase the demand."

Sollars suggested expansion of the present Food for Peace Program conducted by the state department. "Our best defense is feeding the hungry," he said. "Why not send food instead of weapons?"

Ohio Statehouse Due To Don Holiday Garb

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's stone statehouse will be all dressed up inside and out in time for Christmas caroling again this year.

Workmen expect to finish redecorating the 120-foot high rotunda within a few weeks and the four vaulted entrance halls next month.

Exterior landscaping already has been virtually completed above the three-deck underground parking garage, a new roof installed on the statehouse and outside terraces replaced.

A labyrinth of steel scaffolding has filled the domed rotunda across its 65-foot diameter all summer with tunnels marked off for state employees and visitors by ropes and red lights.

One young visitor called it the "biggest jungle gym."

Removal of 740 frames of rotunda scaffolding exposed the bright new canvas seal, replacing a broken stained glass seal atop the dome, and the silver gray and gold trimmed walls. Special lighting will be 200 per cent brighter than before.

More than 135 gallons of paint and $3,000 worth of gold leaf were applied during the first general redecorating in 30 years.

Interior stonework was sand blasted to the discomfort of office workers who are happy that the worst is over.

Public Works Director Alfred C. Gienow said the total cost would be approximately $386,000, with most of the money coming from the $250 million bond issue approved by voters in 1963.

Plaques and paintings, including Howard Chandler Christy's "Signing of the Treaty of Greeneville" and William H. Powell's canvas, "Perry's Victory" on Lake Erie, have been stored in a bonded warehouse. A committee will decide how and where they should be displayed.

New vestibules at the four entrances will feature bronze doors in addition to the 12 foot, 4 inch present doors.

Glass cases in the rotunda will contain exhibits depicting "Ohio's Heritage." They are being prepared by the Ohio Historical Society.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Trouble with power-producing fuel cells threatens to delay the Dec. 4 launch date of Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr.

A NASA spokesman said that during a test Tuesday, pressure apparently built up and forced liquid hydrogen into the two fuel cells, which combine hydrogen and oxygen to produce electrical power. The spokesman said the cells may not have been harmed, but to be on the safe side for the intended 14-day mission, the decision was made to replace them.

If Gemini 7 is delayed, the companion Gemini 6 flight, to be launched nine days after Gemini 7, also would be postponed.

PARIS (AP) — A Nationalist Chinese newsman, Francis Ting, was expelled from France today. Informed sources said the Interior Ministry ordered him to leave because France had established diplomatic relations with Peking.

Ting, a correspondent for the weekly Free China Review, had been in France for 10 years. His newspaper will continue to be represented by his assistant, Shi-Chien Chao.

TOKYO (AP) — The Defense Agency's research institute today postponed the test of a Japanese-made ground-to-ground missile because of opposition from residents near the testing range.

The tests were to have been held Nov. 25-26 at a firing range at the foothills of Mt. Fuji, the same range where local residents last month forced the indefinite postponement of rocket-firing practice by U.S. forces.

An institute official said no new date had been set.

LONDON (AP) — By a 12-vote margin, the House of Commons defeated a Conservative motion Wednesday night to censure Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government for its economic policies.

The vote was 280-268, and the 10 Liberal party members abstained. Wilson officially has a two-seat majority in the 630-seat House.

Northeast Is Hit by Snow, Cold

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A storm hovered over the Northeastern United States today, packing strong winds, snow and cold.

The storm struck the Lake Huron area Tuesday before it swung over the coast of Maine Wednesday night.

Meadville, in western Pennsylvania, reported 9 1/2 inches of snow on the ground. A 62-year-old woman was killed when her car slid across a slushy highway and hit a tree.

Blairsville, Pa., reported 3 inches of snow. Temperatures were below freezing across all of Pennsylvania.

High winds toppled a 20-foot cinder-block structure in northeastern Pennsylvania, killing a construction worker.

Gale warnings were up along the Atlantic Coast from Maine to Cape Hatteras, N.C. Heavy-snow warnings were in effect in sections of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

In the early-morning hours, 9 inches of snow covered the ground at Newport, Vt. Seven inches of it fell within six hours. Berlin, N.H., reported a 4-inch fall within the six-hour period, and up to 5 inches whirled the shores of Lake Ontario in New York State.

Part of the story deals with the official dedication of the plant here on Sept. 20. A background on the Owens-Illinois Forest Products Division and production facts at the Circleville plant are described.

THE RUNDOWN also outlines the railroad's connection with the box facility. Norfolk & Western each month moves between 40 and 60 carloads of paperboard to the installation, where six 50-foot railroad cars may be placed under roof at one time.

Paperboard arriving here comes from mills in Ohio, Wisconsin, Georgia and Virginia where pulp from extensive woodlands across the nation are made into a finished product.

The N&W also handles out-bound shipments of corrugated boxes to points in Ohio, West Virginia and Virginia.

The story points out that Norfolk & Western is pleased to have the Circleville plant as a new and valued customer. The railroad, along with this community, looks forward to its continued success and growth.

High winds toppled a 20-foot cinder-block structure in northeastern Pennsylvania, killing a construction worker.

Gale warnings were up along the Atlantic Coast from Maine to Cape Hatteras, N.C. Heavy-snow warnings were in effect in sections of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

In the early-morning hours, 9 inches of snow covered the ground at Newport, Vt. Seven inches of it fell within six hours. Berlin, N.H., reported a 4-inch fall within the six-hour period, and up to 5 inches whitened the shores of Lake Ontario in New York State.

Reds Seeking To Turn East Berlin into Eden

BERLIN (AP)—“The damned Russians,” the old man said, leaning heavily on his cane. “They robbed us blind. And now our own Genossen (German Communist comrades) say they will rebuild all this in five years. I don’t believe it.”

The old man looked around the square in East Berlin between the bombed-out twin German and French cathedrals, where so far the Communists have rebuilt one pillar to keep the French cathedral’s main entrance from falling down.

Elsewhere a wiry Communist party official outlined the regime’s plan for a new Berlin. A glistening white plastic model of a new city center was at his elbow.

For the Communists, East Berlin has apparently become top priority, the place to put East Germany’s best foot forward.

The year 1970 is their target date for completion of a facelift. For years after World War II East Berlin has been a drab, sad city still largely in ruins—in comparison with West Berlin.

A U.S. economic expert says: “The Communist have a real chance to accomplish what they have set out to do. They have taken a major decision to make East Berlin a showplace.”

“Their economy is moving forward and for years now the Russians have quit taking everything the East Germans produced. The question remains, however, how good a job they can do, how long what they build will last, how good the workmanship will be. They still lack materials, as well as workers, and the workers still lack initiative.”

Nor are the lack of workers, materials and initiative the only problem the Communists face

There is resistance among young people, even after constant indoctrination.

When three East Berlin policemen formed a circle around the writer, giving him a traffic ticket, a blond of about 20 walked by. He looked at the green-clad, booted cops, sneered and said, “Ihr Schweine (you pigs).”

The police did nothing. For the casual visitor to East Berlin, the downtown area has changed considerably in recent years.

The area along the Berlin Wall near the Brandenburg Gate, has been spruced up although guards with submachine guns remain there. A thick carpet of grass stretches down the street behind a neat wire fence, curving over a mound that denotes the bunker where Adolf Hitler died.

Unter Den Linden, leading into East Berlin from the Brandenburg Gate and once the most famous of German boulevards, again is graced by trees. New glass and steel buildings are interspersed with the restored opera house and Humboldt University and the mammoth Soviet Embassy. An automobile salesroom shows brightly hued Soviet-bloc cars.

There is speculation that when all is ready, the Communists will reopen the Brandenburg Gate as a crossing point for foreigners, thereby making it possible to usher them directly into the heart of what they want to see.

The Berlin cathedral is a massive, if cleaned up, ruin. Unlike the German and French cathedrals which the Communists say they will restore, the Berlin cathedral will not be rebuilt—“it is not a work of art and therefore not worth the millions of marks rebuilding would cost.”

The cathedral dominates Marx-Engels Square. If it were rebuilt it would also dominate the heart of the new city center the Communists are planning.

In both halves of Berlin busy city planners are mapping out new streets, highways, bridges and rail lines that project into the other half of the city.

The hub of the projected Communist city center is to be old Alexander Square around which are grouped department stores now run by Ho, a giant, all-purpose, state-run store.

Ho’s ads amuse the English-speaking observer because “Ho-Ho-Ho” posters appear beneath Communist flags.

Off Alexander Square the Communists have built brightly painted apartment houses and cultural buildings that represent a first step toward the all-German Socialist look that the Walter Ulbricht regime is trying to create.

Rents in the new East Berlin apartments average 130 marks monthly—about $32 at the East German rate of exchange.

East Berliners are better dressed, have more to eat and buy, than was the case a few years ago. But East Berlin as a capital leaves the impression of a police state, regulated by countless people in uniform.

Few Russians are seen in the streets, but thousands of Russian troops are just outside the city.

Flattop To Get Repairs

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The aircraft carrier Shangri-La has arrived at the Philadelphia Naval Base for a $14-million, six-month modernization and overhaul program.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Same technique, but faster this time. And President Johnson has made his point: He means business with business. He wants prices steady. If he has to play rough to keep them that way, he will.

He did this last week with the aluminum industry and now this week with the copper industry. In both cases he never said a word. He didn’t have to. His technique was simple.

Let his top aides do the talking and the rough stuff. But business could never have any doubt who was pulling the strings.

Although he had previously made clear he wants business to avoid price increases to prevent inflation, the aluminum industry ignored him and raised prices.

He must have hoped the industry would reconsider because for several days his aides hemmed and hawed and stumbled around with vague hints of what they might do while never saying it had any connection with the price boost.

Then the ax fell. The government has so much aluminum in its stockpile that it considered 1.4 million tons a surplus it wanted to get rid of.

Then on Nov. 6, Robert S. McNamara, secretary of defense, announced the government would get rid of 200,000 tons of its aluminum.

With that much aluminum turned loose, the industry’s sales would suffer and it would have to cut prices. Still deadpan, naming no names and calling none, McNamara said the extra supplies on the market should “relieve price pressures” and cut prices.

Meanwhile, the copper industry, as if it had never heard what happened to the aluminum

Then Wednesday night McNamara came back into the picture suddenly by calling a news conference to make an announcement. Unlike the government’s performance with aluminum, there had been no hint of what was to come.

But McNamara disclosed the government, which also has more copper than it needs, would release 200,000 tons of it and would take other steps to

Corneal Transplants 90 Pct. Successful

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Leonard H. Heise, president of the Eye Bank Association of America, says more than 90 per cent of corneal transplants to blind persons have been successful.

Heise said “This is relative. One person may not feel such an operation is a success unless he can read the daily papers or look up a number in the telephone book. Another totally blind person may feel it’s a success if he can see well enough to get around.”

New Trek Is Hinted Away from Farm Life

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new wave of heavy labor departures from the farm may be ahead, the government says. Migration is heaviest among the 18 and 19 year olds.

“The current expansion in this age group, resulting from the sharp rise in birth rates after World War II, may result in a new wave of departures from the farm,” the Agriculture Department said, “but the number staying on the farm also may be large enough to modify the age distribution of farm people.”

By James Marlow

put a brake on rising copper prices.

McNamara said Johnson concurred in his actions, although it was hardly necessary to say so. Johnson had been criticized after his victory over the aluminum industry. His administration, which had mumbled for days before forcing the showdown, had been accused of fumbling and indecision and other things.

This kind of criticism seemed ridiculous for it was clear enough, when the administration finally decided to turn loose 200,000 tons of aluminum, what had been behind the delay and the huffing and puffing.

Anyone who has watched Johnson — a master politician who avoids name-calling, head-on clashes if they can be avoided, and unpleasant showdowns unless as a last resort — could have figured his tactics with aluminum.

If the industry took the veiled hints his aides were throwing out — before the McNamara announcement about the 200,000 tons of aluminum — maybe it would drop its price increase.

But the industry wouldn’t yield until forced to. With that lesson in mind, the administration didn’t go through the same routine with the copper industry.

It just did the same thing to copper that it did to aluminum, without public warning.

All this should provide a good insight — particularly for American business — into Johnson: That he’s highly flexible, that he’s determined, and that he will stick to what he wants with a minimum of shouting.

Now it’s up to the copper industry to back down, as aluminum did, or try its luck by defying Johnson. Since he is a very resourceful man, this might not in the end be good business.

Reds Seeking To Turn East Berlin into Eden

BERLIN (AP)—“The damned Russians,” the old man said, leaning heavily on his cane. “They robbed us blind. And now our own Genossen (German Communist comrades) say they will rebuild all this in five years. I don’t believe it.”

The old man looked around the square in East Berlin between the bombed-out twin German and French cathedrals, where so far the Communists have rebuilt one pillar to keep the French cathedral’s main entrance from falling down.

Elsewhere a wiry Communist party official outlined the regime’s plan for a new Berlin. A glistening white plastic model of a new city center was at his elbow.

The “naked truth” of East Berlin is hard to come by. The Communists speak solely in enthusiastic terms while people say very little of what they think.

The truth apparently lies somewhere between the pessimism of the old man and the optimism of the party functionary.

For the Communists, East Berlin has apparently become top priority, the place to put East Germany’s best foot forward.

The year 1970 is their target date for completion of a facelift. For years after World War II East Berlin has been a drab, sad city still largely in ruins—in comparison with West Berlin.

A U.S. economic expert says: “The Communist have a real chance to accomplish what they have set out to do. They have taken a major decision to make East Berlin a showplace.”

“Their economy is moving forward and for years now the Russians have quit taking everything the East Germans produced. The question remains, however, how good a job they can do, how long what they build will last, how good the workmanship will be. They still lack materials, as well as workers, and the workers still lack initiative.”

Nor are the lack of workers, materials and initiative the only problem the Communists face

in trying to match what has been accomplished in West Berlin.

There is resistance among young people, even after constant indoctrination.

When three East Berlin policemen formed a circle around the writer, giving him a traffic ticket, a blond of about 20 walked by. He looked at the green-clad, booted cops, sneered and said, “Ihr Schweine (you pigs).”

The police did nothing.

For the casual visitor to East Berlin, the downtown area has changed considerably in recent years.

The area along the Berlin Wall near the Brandenburg Gate, has been spruced up although guards with submachine guns remain there.

A thick carpet of grass stretches down the street behind a neat wire fence, curving over a mound that denotes the bunker where Adolf Hitler died.

Unter Den Linden, leading into East Berlin from the Brandenburg Gate and once the most famous of German boulevards, again is graced by trees. New glass and steel buildings are interspersed with the restored opera house and Humboldt University and the mammoth Soviet Embassy. An automobile salesroom shows brightly hued Soviet-bloc cars.

There is speculation that when all is ready, the Communists will reopen the Brandenburg Gate as a crossing point for foreigners, thereby making it possible to usher them directly into the heart of what they want to see.

The Berlin cathedral is a massive, if cleaned up, ruin. Unlike the German and French cathedrals which the Communists say they will restore, the Berlin cathedral will not be rebuilt—“it is not a work of art and therefore not worth the millions of marks rebuilding would cost.”

The cathedral dominates Marx-Engels Square. If it were rebuilt it would also dominate the heart of the new city center the Communists are planning.

In both halves of Berlin busy city planners are mapping out new streets, highways, bridges and rail lines that project into the other half of the city.

The hub of the projected Communist city center is to be old Alexander Square around which are grouped department stores now run by Ho, a giant, all-purpose, state-run store.

Ho’s ads amuse the English-speaking observer because “Ho-Ho-Ho-Ho” posters appear beneath Communist flags.

Off Alexander Square the Communists have built brightly painted apartment houses and cultural buildings that represent a first step toward the all-German Socialist look that the Walter Ulbricht regime is trying to create.

Rents in the new East Berlin apartments average 130 marks monthly—about $32 at the East German rate of exchange.

East Berliners are better dressed, have more to eat and buy, than was the case a few years ago. But East Berlin as a capital leaves the impression of a police state, regulated by countless people in uniform.

Few Russians are seen in the streets, but thousands of Russian troops are just outside the city.

Flattop To Get Repairs

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The aircraft carrier Shangri-La has arrived at the Philadelphia Naval Base for a $14-million, six-month modernization and overhaul program.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Same technique, but faster this time. And President Johnson has made his point: He means business with business. He wants prices steady. If he has to play rough to keep them that way, he will.

He did this last week with the aluminum industry and now this week with the copper industry. In both cases he never said a word. He didn’t have to. His technique was simple.

He stayed in the background and let his top aides do the talking and the rough stuff. But business could never have any doubt who was pulling the strings.

Although he had previously made clear he wants business to avoid price increases to prevent inflation, the aluminum industry ignored him and raised prices.

He must have hoped the industry would reconsider because for several days his aides hemmed and hawed and stumbled around with vague hints of what they might do while never saying it had any connection with the price boost.

Then the ax fell. The government has so much aluminum in its stockpile that it considered 1.4 million tons a surplus it wanted to get rid of.

Then on Nov. 6, Robert S. McNamara, secretary of defense, announced the government would get rid of 200,000 tons of its aluminum.

With that much aluminum turned loose, the industry’s sales would suffer and it would have to cut prices. Still deadpan, naming no names and calling none, McNamara said the extra supplies on the market should “relieve price pressures.” The industry got the message and cut prices.

Meanwhile, the copper industry, as if it had never heard what happened to the aluminum

industry, raised its prices. It did this shortly before Johnson’s showdown with aluminum, but it kept them there.

Then Wednesday night McNamara came back into the picture suddenly by calling a news conference to make an announcement. Unlike the government’s performance with aluminum, there had been no hint of what was to come.

But McNamara disclosed the government, which also has more copper than it needs, would release 200,000 tons of it and would take other steps to

Corneal Transplants 90 Pct. Successful

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Leonard H. Heise, president of the Eye Bank Association of America, says more than 90 per cent of corneal transplants to blind persons have been successful.

Heise said “This is relative. One person may not feel such an operation is a success unless he can read the daily papers or look up a number in the telephone book. Another totally blind person may feel it’s a success if he can see well enough to get around.”

New Trek Is Hinted Away from Farm Life

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new wave of heavy labor departures from the farm may be ahead, the government says.

Migration is heaviest among the 18 and 19 year olds.

“The current expansion in this age group, resulting from the sharp rise in birth rates after World War II, may result in a new wave of departures from the farm,” the Agriculture Department said, “but the number staying on the farm also may be large enough to modify the age distribution of farm people.”

By James Marlow

put a brake on rising copper prices.

McNamara said Johnson concurred in his actions, although it was hardly necessary to say so.

Johnson had been criticized after his victory over the aluminum industry. His administration, which had mumbled for days before forcing the showdown, had been accused of fumbling and indecision and other things.

This kind of criticism seemed ridiculous for it was clear enough, when the administration finally decided to turn loose 200,000 tons of aluminum, what had been behind the delay and the huffing and puffing.

Anyone who has watched Johnson — a master politician who avoids name-calling, head-on clashes if they can be avoided, and unpleasant showdowns unless as a last resort — could have figured his tactics with aluminum.

If the industry took the veiled hints his aides were throwing out — before the McNamara announcement about the 200,000 tons of aluminum — maybe it would drop its price increase.

But the industry wouldn’t yield until forced to. With that lesson in mind, the administration didn’t go through the same routine with the copper industry.

It just did the same thing to copper that it did to aluminum, without public warning.

All this should provide a good insight — particularly for American business — into Johnson: That he’s highly flexible, that he’s determined, and that he will stick to what he wants with a minimum of shouting.

Now it’s up to the copper industry to back down, as aluminum did, or try its luck by defying Johnson. Since he is a very resourceful man, this might not in the end be good business.

AL's MVP Award Goes To Versailles

BOSTON (AP) Zoilo Versailles, the spectacular shortstop of the Minnesota Twins, was a near unanimous choice today for the 1965 American League Most Valuable Player Award.

Versailles, who sparked the Twins to their first American League pennant, received 19 of the 20 first-place ballots cast by a special committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The other first place vote went to teammate Tony Oliva, who won the AL batting championship for the second year in a row. Oliva finished second in the voting, being picked second on 13 ballots, and the 1964 winner, Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, finished third.

The only other player named on all 20 ballots was relief pitcher Eddie Fisher of Chicago. The knuckleball artist became the first relief pitcher in the American League ever named on every ballot.

Fisher finished fourth in the voting with 122 points, compared to 275 for Versailles, 174 for Oliva and 150 for Robinson.

Versailles' total was 100 points higher than the runner-up because each first-place vote was worth 14 points while second-place votes received 9 points and third-place votes 8 points, etc.

Top Scorer To Engage Top Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — The Michigan State at Notre Dame football game Saturday took on added stature today with the release of the weekly major college team defense statistics by the NCAA National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. It pits the team, Michigan State, which leads in rushing defense, against the team that has scored the most in major competition.

The Big Ten champions from East Lansing, Mich., have yielded only 32 yards rushing per game or 1.32 yards per play on 307 enemy rushes. This compares to Notre Dame's rushing gains of 255.3 yards per game.

The Fighting Irish from South Bend are stingy yielding yardage against rushes, too, the NCAA statistics show. They are second to the Spartans in rushing defense, yielding 69.5 yards per game.

Michigan State also tops Notre Dame in total defense. The Spartans rank fourth with 187.4 per game to top-ranked Southern Mississippi's 161.2. Notre Dame is eighth with 196.4 yards.

American League batting champion Pedro Oliva made 185 hits for the Minnesota Twins last season. He led the league in most hits while batting .321.

OSU-Michigan 'Snow Bowl' Tilt Recalled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It will be 15 Ohio State-Michigan games ago Saturday that one of football's all-time fantastic games was played in Ohio Stadium—and led to the advent of Woody Hayes' OSU coaching regime.

It was the famous, or infamous, "Snow Bowl."

Fifty thousand hardy, or foolhardy, fans saw the unbelievable struggle—what they could see of it through one of the worst blizzards in Columbus' history.

Coach Wes Fesler's Buckeyes went into the game leading the Big Ten with a 5-1 record. Michigan was 3-1-1.

The Wolverines came out of it with the conference championship.

The score was Michigan 9, Ohio State 3.

Ohio State's All-America Vic Janowicz kicked off and Michigan's Chuck Ortmann punted on first down. Janowicz countered with a 57-yard quick-kick to Michigan's 6.

Again the Wolverines punted on first down. This time Buckeye guard Bob Morsen of Toledo blocked it. That set up a tremendous 38-yard field goal by Janowicz that turned out to be the only offensive scoring of the day.

Michigan chose to kick off rather than receive after the score, and the next time the Wolverines got the ball Ortmann again punted on first down.

Michigan line backer Tony Morsen—Buckeye Bob's brother—blocked Janowicz' boot and recovered for a touchdown.

There was no semblance of a scoring threat in the second half.

In fact, Michigan's total offense for the day showed no first downs 27 net yards rushing and no pass completions in nine throws. Ohio State made three first downs, netted 16 yards rushing and got 25 yards on 3 for 18 passing.

Janowicz and Ortmann combined for an all-time record of 45 punts. The Buckeye tailback punted 24 times, Ortmann 21.

Two weeks later, Fesler—with only a tie to show in four tussles with the Wolverines—resigned. Sidewalk quarterbacks walked long and loud over the blocked punt that lost the game—theorizing that Ohio State could have run out the first half clock without kicking.

Woody, incidentally, has beaten Michigan nine times in 14 games.

Clay Has 'Linger On Punch' Perfected for Patterson

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Casius Clay says he has a secret punch to throw at Floyd Patterson. He calls it the "linger on punch."

"It don't knock him out," said the heavyweight champion, "it just makes him dizzy and linger on."

So it was Wednesday as Clay and the two-time ex-champion fought for their 15-round title match Nov. 22 in the Las Vegas Convention Center before an international audience.

Clay was the clay of old at his latest press conference. He was bombastic, boastful, joking, chiding his sportswriter critics, but not in the grim Cassius—or if you prefer Muhammad Ali—of just a few days ago.

Patterson remained Patterson disciplined in his training and intent on winning. He was also aware, but seemingly undisturbed that he is a 3-1 underdog. Each day the fighters, after their workouts, appear on center stage at their respective show-room training sites on the Las Vegas hotel strip, Clay at the Stardust and Patterson across the highway at the Thunderbird. There are microphones and spot lights as in a stage production.

Patterson amended, or sought to, his position on the Black Muslim Society, of which Clay is a member.

"There has been an impression that I am against the whole Black Muslim movement. I am against what they believe in segregation," Patterson said.

"I, like many other Negroes and many white people, believe in integration. I do not know enough about their other beliefs to comment."

"In my opinion, and possibly my opponent, this is just a fight."

Patterson on several occasions has said that he hopes to regain the title "for America and take it away from the organization." He specified he meant the Muslims.

Player of Week Is Buffalo QB

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Jack French Kemp is having "my best year," which greatly enhances the Buffalo Bills' chances to repeat as champions of the American Football League.

Kemp said last week's Buffalo-Oakland game was a must win for the Bills. The Bills quarterback has had better statistical days than his 11-for-31 passing performance, but the Bills won 17-14.

"I was about as pleased over that game as I've ever been in my career," said Kemp. The Associated Press took note and made Kemp its AFL Offensive Player of the Week.

Four lanes in Lancaster contributed $252.35 to the fund. The bowling house in Baltimore collected $11.87, Prairie Lanes here turned in $11.32 contributed and Circle D Lanes turned in $6.75.

Charger Back Wins AFL Honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Robinson, a Kansas City running back who found happiness and success as a safety man, is The Associated Press choice as Defensive Player of the Week in the American Football League.

Robinson intercepted two passes, made seven tackles and knocked down a pass to play a major part in Kansas City's upset of San Diego last Sunday.

The former Louisiana State star, who originally signed with both pro leagues but was awarded to the AFL, picked off one pass on his two, saving a touchdown, and returned the second to the Chargers' 35, setting up a score.

A pair of fullbacks, Walt Garrison of Oklahoma State and Jim Grisham of Oklahoma, finished 1-2 in Big Eight rushing in 1964, the first 1-2 finish by fullbacks in the 27 years the NCAA has kept records.

years of public service which you have rendered in both the legislative and judicial branches of the government."

Wilt Points To All-Time Score Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Come sometime in February Wilt Chamberlain probably will become the all-time career scorer in the National Basketball Association with close to 21,000 points.

The Big Dipper, as the 7-foot-1 former Kansas All-America prefers to be called, became the No. 2 all-time scorer Wednesday night when he tossed in 46 points against the Cincinnati Royals.

There was just one flaw. Wilt's team, the Philadelphia 76ers, lost the game 131-115 as the Royals won their seventh straight and replaced the 76ers as the Eastern Division leaders.

Jerry West also scored 46 points in pacing the Los Angeles Lakers, the Western Division leaders, to a 125-115 victory over the Boston Celtics in the other NBA game scheduled Wednesday.

Chamberlain got his 46 points on 18 field goals and 10 of 12 free throws. This gave him a career total of 19,263 and he needed only 33 to pass Dolph Schayes career total of 19,249. Schayes now is Chamberlain's boss as coach of the 76ers.

Bob Pettit of St. Louis, who retired after last season, is the NBA's No. 1 career scorer with 20,880. Chamberlain can catch up and pass him by averaging 30 points per game for the remaining 69 games of this season. This is well within Chamberlain's capability.

Bob Allison led the Minnesota Twins in bases on balls last season with 73. He ranked second in strikeouts with 114. Zoilo Versailles fanned 122 times.

AL's MVP Award Goes To Versailles

BOSTON (AP) Zoilo Versailles, the spectacular shortstop of the Minnesota Twins, was a near unanimous choice today for the 1965 American League Most Valuable Player Award.

Versailles, who sparked the Twins to their first American League pennant, received 19 of the 20 first-place ballots cast by a special committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The other first place vote went to teammate Tony Oliva, who won the AL batting championship for the second year in a row. Oliva finished second in the voting, being picked second on 13 ballots, and the 1964 winner, Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, finished third.

The only other player named on all 20 ballots was relief pitcher Eddie Fisher of Chicago. The knuckleball artist became the first relief pitcher in the American League ever named on every ballot.

Fisher finished fourth in the voting with 122 points, compared to 275 for Versailles, 174 for Oliva and 150 for Robinson. Versailles' total was 100 points higher than the runner-up because each first-place vote was worth 14 points while second-place votes received 9 points and third-place votes 8 points, etc.

Top Scorer To Engage Top Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — The Michigan State at Notre Dame football game Saturday took on added stature today with the release of the weekly major college team defense statistics by the NCAA National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. It pits the team, Michigan State, which leads in rushing defense, against the team that has scored the most in major competition.

The Big Ten champions from East Lansing, Mich., have yielded only 52 yards rushing per game or 1.52 yards per play on 307 enemy rushes. This compares to Notre Dame's rushing gains of 255.3 yards per game.

The Fighting Irish from South Bend are stingy yielding yardage against rushes, too, the NCAA statistics show. They are second to the Spartans in rushing defense, yielding 69.5 yards per game.

Michigan State also tops Notre Dame in total defense. The Spartans rank fourth with 187.4 per game to top-ranked Southern Mississippi's 161.2. Notre Dame is eighth with 196.4 yards.

American League batting champion Pedro Oliva made 185 hits for the Minnesota Twins last season. He led the league in most hits while batting .321.

OSU-Michigan 'Snow Bowl' Tilt Recalled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It will be 15 Ohio State-Michigan games ago Saturday that one of football's all-time fantastic games was played in Ohio Stadium—and led to the advent of Woody Hayes' OSU coaching regime.

It was the famous, or infamous, "Snow Bowl."

Fifty thousand hardy, or foolhardy, fans saw the unbelievable struggle—what they could see of it through one of the worst blizzards in Columbus' history.

Coach Wes Fesler's Buckeyes went into the game leading the Big Ten with a 5-1 record. Michigan was 3-1-1.

The Wolverines came out of it with the conference championship.

The score was Michigan 9, Ohio State 3.

Ohio State's All-America Vic Janowicz kicked off and Michigan's Chuck Ortmann punted on first down. Janowicz countered with a 57-yard quick-kick to Michigan's 6.

Again the Wolverines punted on first down. This time Buckeye guard Bob Morsen of Toledo blocked it. That set up a tremendous 38-yard field goal by Janowicz that turned out to be the only offensive scoring of the day.

Michigan chose to kick off rather than receive after the score, and the next time the Wolves got the ball Ortmann again punted on first down.

Before the first quarter ended, Michigan scored a safety by blocking a punt out of the Ohio end zone. Still, the 3-2 Buck edge looked safe.

Eventually, with only 40 seconds left in the half, and the ball on the Buckeye 12, Coach Fesler sent in instructions to punt on third down.

Michigan line backer Tony Morsen—Buckeye Bob's brother—blocked Janowicz' boot and recovered for a touchdown.

There was no semblance of a scoring threat in the second half.

In fact, Michigan's total offense for the day showed no first downs 27 net yards rushing and no pass completions in nine throws. Ohio State made three first downs, netted 16 yards rushing and got 25 yards on 3 for 18 passing.

Janowicz and Ortmann combined for an all-time record of 45 punts. The Buckeye tailback punted 24 times, Ortmann 21.

Two weeks later, Fesler—with only a tie to show in four tussles with the Wolverines—resigned. Sidewalk quarterbacks wailed long and loud over the blocked punt that lost the game—theorizing that Ohio State could have run out the first half clock without kicking.

Buckeye fans have mellowed a bit since then. And Fesler's immediate successor, Hayes, is still at the coaching helm.

Woody, incidentally, has beaten Michigan nine times in 14 games.

Clay Has 'Linger On Punch' Perfected for Patterson

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Cassius Clay says he has a secret punch to throw at Floyd Patterson. He calls it the linger-on punch.

"It don't knock him out," said the heavyweight champion, "it just makes him dizzy and linger on."

"That is until I finish him off."

So it was Wednesday as Clay and the two-time ex-champion point for their 15-round title match Nov. 22 in the Las Vegas Convention Center before an international audience.

Clay was the Clay of old at his latest press conference. He was bombastic, boastful, joking, chiding his sportswriter critics, but not in the grim Cassius—or if you prefer Muhammad Ali—of just a few days ago.

Patterson remained Patterson disciplined in his training and intent on winning. He was also aware, but seemingly undisturbed that he is a 3-1 underdog. Each day the fighters, after their workouts, appear on center stage at their respective show-room training sites on the Las Vegas hotel strip, Clay at the Stardust and Patterson across the highway at the Thunderbird. There are microphones and spot lights as in a stage production.

Patterson amended, or sought to, his position on the Black Muslim Society, of which Clay is a member.

"There has been an impression that I am against the whole Black Muslim movement. I am against what they believe in segregation," Patterson said.

"I, like many other Negroes and many white people, believe in integration. I do not know enough about their other beliefs to comment."

"In my opinion, and possibly my opponent, this is just a fight."

Patterson on several occasions has said that he hopes to regain the title "for America and take it away from the organization." He specified he meant the Muslims.

Dallas Taps Meredith To Test Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns will face veteran Dallas Cowboys quarterback Don Meredith Sunday instead of the two rookies used by Coach Tom Landry when Dallas dropped a 23-17 decision to the Browns here Oct. 17.

Landry made the switch to Meredith after giving Craig Morton and Jerry Rhyme a chance at the job. With Meredith back at the helm, the Cowboys have won two of their last three, including a 24-17 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers last Sunday.

He completed 14 of 31 attempts against the Steelers and Landry said "a dozen good shots were dropped by the receivers."

The Browns, who lead the Eastern Conference of the National Football League by two games over second place St. Louis, can expect to face a healthy team except for rookie halfback Dan Reeves.

Meredith's targets are Pete Gent, second-year man from Michigan State, Bob Hayes and Frank Clarke. Hayes, the Olympic gold medal sprint champ, is the Cowboys top receiver with 28 catches for 595 yards. That figures to 21.3 yards per grab.

Player of Week Is Buffalo QB

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Jack French Kemp is having "my best year," which greatly enhances the Buffalo Bills' chances to repeat as champions of the American Football League.

Kemp said last week's Buffalo-Oakland game was a must win for the Bills. The Bills quarterback has had better statistical days than his 11-for-31 passing performance, but the Bills won 17-14.

"I was about as pleased over that game as I've ever been in my career," said Kemp. The Associated Press took note and made Kemp its AFL Offensive Player of the Week.

Judge Underwood Hailed by President

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. District Judge Mell G. Underwood of Columbus, Ohio, has President Johnson's "best wishes for your future welfare and happiness" in retirement.

Johnson, accepting the resignation of the soon-to-be-74 judge, wrote him: "I want to express to you appreciation of the many

Jr. Nickel Week Shows $282 Take

The Lancaster Junior Bowling Assn. "Junior Bowling Nickel Week" held Oct. 17-23 at affiliated establishments grossed $282.29 in contributions.

Kenneth Mace, secretary-treasurer of the Lancaster Bowling Assn., noted the funds will be used to finance the junior bowling program.

Four lanes in Lancaster contributed $252.35 to the fund. The bowling house in Baltimore collected $11.87, Prairie Lanes here turned in $11.32 contributed there and Circle D Lanes turned in $6.75.

Charger Back Wins AFL Honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Robinson, a Kansas City running back who found happiness and success as a safety man, is The Associated Press choice as Defensive Player of the Week in the American Football League.

Robinson intercepted two passes, made seven tackles and knocked down a pass to play a major part in Kansas City's upset of San Diego last Sunday.

The former Louisiana State star, who originally signed with both pro leagues but was awarded to the AFL, picked off one pass on his two, saving a touchdown, and returned the second to the Chargers' 35, setting up a score.

A pair of fullbacks, Walt Garrison of Oklahoma State and Jim Grisham of Oklahoma, finished 1-2 in Big Eight rushing in 1964, the first 1-2 finish by fullbacks in the 27 years the NCAA has kept records.

Wilt Points To All-Time Score Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Come sometime in February Wilt Chamberlain probably will become the all-time career scorer in the National Basketball Association with close to 21,000 points.

The Big Dipper, as the 7-foot-1 former Kansas All-America prefers to be called, became the No. 2 all-time scorer Wednesday night when he tossed in 46 points against the Cincinnati Royals.

There was just one law. Wilt's team, the Philadelphia 76ers, lost the game 131-115 as the Royals won their seventh straight and replaced the 76ers as the Eastern Division leaders.

Jerry West also scored 46 points in pacing the Los Angeles Lakers, the Western Division leaders, to a 125-115 victory over the Boston Celtics in the other NBA game scheduled Wednesday.

Chamberlain got his 46 points on 18 field goals and 10 of 12 free throws. This gave him a career total of 19,263 and he needed only 33 to pass Dolph Schayes career total of 19,249. Schayes now is Chamberlain's boss as coach of the 76ers.

Bob Pettit of St. Louis, who retired after last season, is the NBA's No. 1 career scorer with 20,880. Chamberlain can catch up and pass him by averaging 30 points per game for the remaining 69 games of this season. This is well within Chamberlain's capability.

Bob Allison led the Minnesota Twins in bases on balls last season with 73. He ranked second in strikeouts with 114. Zoilo Versailles fanned 122 times.

Gen. William (Pvt. Spike) Eckert Is Named Baseball Commissioner

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's new public image began forming today behind the leadership of a new commissioner — a retired three-star Air Force general who delights in being called Pvt. Spike.

He is William D. Eckert, 56, of Washington, D.C., a trim, sharp-visaged man with thinning steel-gray hair and the build of a high school football halfback, 160 pounds, 5 feet, 8½ inches.

His unanimous recommendation Wednesday to the major leagues' 20 club owners ended a six-month search by a screening committee headed by John Fetzer of the Detroit Tigers and John Galbreath of the Pittsburgh Pirates. They started originally with about 20 men.

The soft-spoken Eckert, a much-decorated officer who retired from the service four years ago, was a surprise choice to become baseball's fourth commissioner. He follows a line that includes Judge K. M. Landis, who ruled with a mailed fist; A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who was ousted by owners in favor of Ford Frick, retiring at the age of 71 after serving since 1951.

Eckert's first lieutenant will be Lee MacPhail, baseball-wise 48-year-old president of the Baltimore Orioles and son of the stormy Larry MacPhail of years ago.

MacPhail was named to head a so-called cabinet as administrator in the commissioner's office. The new-image baseball government also will have departments encompassing player affairs, public information, television-radio and amateur baseball that includes Little League, American Legion, high school and college levels.

For the time being, at least, headquarters will remain in New York.

Whether directors of each of these branches will be named is yet to be decided, said MacPhail, who signed a three-year contract at $40,000 annually.

Eckert was given a seven-year pact at $65,000.

The new commissioner admits he knows little of the inner workings of baseball and that his first action will be to confer with as many club owners as possible and the presidents of the American and National leagues, Joe Cronin and Warren Giles.

Cronin was mentioned prominently as Frick's successor but eliminated himself Wednesday by accepting another seven-year contract as American League president at a salary increase.

Frick will be Eckert's conferee for the next three months and will aid in officiating at the baseball meetings in Miami next month. A year ago in Phoenix, Frick was successful in getting owners to restore the commissioner's power which had been clipped after the death of Landis.

He urged restoration of automatic powers in order to broaden public confidence and maintain the honesty and integrity of the game, warning that baseball was in danger of losing its coveted public image.

Eckert, a native of Freeport, Ill., whose only close connection with baseball was playing first base and the outfield for Madison, Ind., High School and on West Point intramural teams, said he was a great admirer of Landis.

"But I don't intend to be a czar and, at the same time, I don't intend to live in an ivory tower," said Eckert, who admitted he knew he was being considered for several weeks.

GUY G. CLINE

Oct. 28, Nov. 4, 11, 18.

"Each person operates differently. Landis was a great commissioner and I had the highest regard for him.

"My authority will be exercised by analyzing, studying and considering. I will not use it dictatorially. I will call the signals as I see them."

Eckert said he was nicknamed Spike at West Point when he was a plebe because of his interest in sports.

"Baseball men can call me Commissioner or General, but I get a kick out of being called Private Spike," he smiled.

"That's the name I'm known by in a Washington youth organization of which I'm president."

Since his retirement, Spike has served on many industry and defense advisory boards but plans to leave most of them to devote nearly full time to his new post.

At the U.S. Military Academy, where he graduated in 1930, he was on the equestrian team and played polo. He still is active in horseback riding, tennis, squash and golf.

Spike was one of two young pursuit pilots selected to attend Harvard graduate school of business and got his master's degree there.

During World War II he commanded the 452nd B17 bomb group, 8th Air Force, in the European theater of operations. Then followed a series of promotions taking him into the fields of Air Force business management. At the time he won his third star, he was the youngest lieutenant general in all the services.

No Danger Is Seen On U.S. Wheat Supply

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman is assuring the nation there is no need for concern over this country's declining stocks of wheat.

The secretary told a farm outlook conference that "if the need arose, for example, we could double the nation's wheat production in two years — with most of the increase in the first year."
